The 1930
MODULUS
VOLUME 19
PUBLISHED BY
SENIOR CLASS
HUNTINGTON, IND.

Dedication

In recognition of his thirty-eight years of service in the Huntington High School, and in appreciation of his many extra hours of labor in the interests of the activities of the school, this volume of the Modulus is sincerely dedicated to James Kiser, Chief Custodian, affectionately known as "Jim."

James F Kiser

Theme

Down through the darkness of the ages, the adherents of that venerable Chinese sage, Confucius, have kept burning the torch of civilization. Zealously they have guarded the flame, reverently they have pored over his precepts, inculcating into their lives the four qualities he deemed essential to a perfect life: knowledge, altruism, strength, and recognition of the value of time. Around these ideals this book is woven.

BOOK IV—Calendar

Foreword

To produce a book which would truly chronicle the high lights of the school year, and as accurately depict every phase of school activity, has been the aspiration of this staff. From a large unwieldly volume, the Modulus has been reduced to the regulation book size, resulting in a compact volume which may be placed on the book shelf for handy reference, instead of being relegated to the attic.

Knowledge---prime requisite of success
---belongs first to the Seniors.

CLASS OF 1930

THROUGHOUT the four years that it has been in high school, the Senior Class has been outstanding for its activity, and has succeeded in everything that it has undertaken.

During its Junior year the reception given the Seniors was judged the best ever given. This was the most outstanding feat of this year, although all of its other undertakings were put across with the same success.

The class was organized September 20 with the following officers being chosen: Max Potts, President; Hazel Clare Robertson, Vice-President; Helen Kohr, Secretary; and Kathryn Satterthwaite, Treasurer. Miss Minnie Hoffman, who guided us through our successful Junior year, was re-elected Class Sponsor.

At the following meeting committees were appointed for the year. The Dramatic Committee was headed by Emily Young, the other members being Richard Bixby, Maxine Chalfant, and Joe Shock. The members of the Flower Committee were Phyllis Sale, Chairman; and Laura Kenner. Bertram May was chosen Chairman of the finance committee, the other members being Kathryn Satterthwaite, Dorohy Guhl, and Charles Lay.

The Color Committee was composed of Gwendolyn Mahoney, Chairman; Helen Schell and Ralph Chevalier. Motto Committee: Martha Dungan, Chairman; Darwin Kelly, and Frances Schenkel. Ring Committee: Harriette Fields, Chairman; Muriel Mahoney, and Joe Foote. Social Committee: Hazel Clare Robertson, Chairman; Harold Blackburn, Geraldine Coble, De Von Young, Delene Lobdel, Jane Wheeler, and Betty Young. Invitation Committee: Eldon Rice, Chairman; Shirley Hawes and Corlene Shock.

It was decided by a vote of all of the members that the class colors would be light blue and grey, and that the flowers would be rose-buds and sweet peas. The class motto adopted was: "Before Us Lies the Timber; Let Us Build."

Some members of the class who attained special recognition by being elected as members of "Quill and Scroll," International Honor Society of High School Journalists, are Shirley Hawes, Laura Kenner, Geraldine Coble, Martha Dungan, Doreatha Barnes, William Scheerer, Dorothy Guhl, and Woody DuHadway.

The members of the class who were chosen to the Honor Society are Martha Dungan, William Scheerer, Rex Rudicel, Helen Maranda, Gwendolyn Mahoney, Geraldine Coble.

Throughout the whole year, many parties and entertainments were sponsored and enjoyed by members of the Senior Class. Two of the most outstanding were the parties held at the Country Club, one in the early part of the term and another at Hallowe'en. At both of these games and dancing were greatly enjoyed.

At a party held at the high school in April an orchestra composed of Senior boys and girls furnished the music for the evening.

The Senior play, "Skidding," chosen by Miss Rupert and the Dramatic Committee was very entertaining and was put over by an efficient and talented cast. Miss Lulu Rupert directed this play, assisted by A. J. Beriault, head of the Beriault School of Expression at Indianapolis. The members of this cast were Maxine Chalfant, Max Potts, Richard Bixby, Ruby Iry, Shirley Hawes, Jane Wheeler, Mildred Bailey, Charles Lay, Bertram May, and Joseph Shock.

From this the Seniors gained sufficient money to enable them to present to the High School, as their parting gift, four beautiful pictures which are now hanging in the library. They also presented to the school early in the term a large red and black banner with the word "Huntington" on it, to be hung above the cheering section at the athletic events.

At the entertainment furnished by the Senior Class in the auditorium, two plays were presented which were greatly appreciated by the whole school.

The Seniors were well represented in athletics, having four members; Rex Rudicel, Kenneth Clapp, De Von Young, and Laurence Ketheart, on the basketball team; Harold Blackburn, Eugene Casper, Ralph Chevalier, Cleon Havens, Jack Wolverton,, Rex Rudicel, Maurice Wright and De Von Young on the football team; and Eugene Casper, Woody Du Hadway, Harold Blackburn, and Fred Cussen on the Scydlings.

The members of the class of the debating team were Richard Bixby, Shirley Hawes, Jane Wheeler, Wilbur Piepenbrink, Eldon Rice, and Darwin Kelley.

Besides being very prominent in all of the activities of the school including the Hi-Y, Sunshine Society, Glee Clubs, and other school organizations, the Senior Class as a whole maintained a high scholastic average throughout not only this year but all of its high school years.

Besides the Modulus Staff, composed entirely of Seniors, there were eleven members of the class upon the staff of the School World. These are Martha Dungan, Max Allen, Phyllis Sale, Margaret McNabb, Maxine Chalfant, Roberta Young, Wilbur Piepenbrink, Jack Wolverton, Claude Harger, Deloris Feighner, and Ross Shoemaker.

One of the most outstanding of the productions this year was the Gold and Blue Revue. This was sponsored by the Modulus Staff and also by the Senior Class to finance the yearbook. Although students from all the classes took part, the majority of the cast were Seniors. Laura Kenner was elected Revue Queen, and record crowds attended the production.

The Class of 1930 was the first class to sponsor a musical show of this sort, and because of its great success the Revue will probably become an annual production.

Max Potts, the president, brought special honor to the class by being chosen a member of the National High School Chorus which sang at Chicago in March. Richard Bixby also added to our list of distinctions by winning various oratorical contests during the year.

Thus at the close of their four years in Huntington High School, the High School should not feel sorry for the loss of these boys and girls, but should be proud to send out into the world potential citizens so well equipped to live useful and happy lives.

K. B. F. AWARD

FOR the fourth consecutive year, an outside organization, the Kiwanis Club, has given to the Senior members of the school an award for distinction gained by having a high scholarship rating throughout their four years of school.

A slight change has been made this year in that the number of Seniors eligible for award has been restricted from six per cent of the class to a stated number, which is five.

The only eligibility required to gain the award is that the students must have the highest scholarship of the class, their grades being averaged from Freshman through Senior years. This award has to the high school much to same significance that the Phi Beta Kappa has for colleges.

The golden badge of membership, which is given to the students, is in the shape of a charm and bears significant markings. The general design is that of a shield which is surmounted by a lamp of knowledge. Two bars approaching from either side bear the Latin phrase, "Discite Semper," meaning "Study Always." A star in the left hand corner, representing five points in noble character, truth, charity, purity, courage, and self-control; and a shield in the right hand corner, having thirteen stars and stripes which represent patriotism, are likewise placed upon the shield. The bottom of the shield bears the Kiwanis International emblem, and a ribbon inscribed with the significant phrase, "Sponsors of Education."

The students chosen from the Senior class this year, using the new restriction of five of the class, are Richard Bixby, Shirley Hawes, Ruby Iry, Geraldine Coble, and Laura Kenner.

Those chosen from last year's Senior class, upon the basis of six per cent of the total number, were Joe Reiff, Rosamond Ade, Frederic Grayston, Hilda Beaver, Benjamin Ahlschwede, Letha Rickert, and Lillian Raver.

JUDGED on the qualifications of scholarship, service, leadership, and character, ten per cent of the Seniors and five percent of the Juniors were chosen for the National Honor Society this year.

To be eligible for the society, a student must meet all the above requirements, and be among the upper fourth of the class scholastically. Service applies especially to work done for the school. Leadership and character are based upon the general attitude toward the school.

Members are nominated by the teachers, each faculty member handing in a suggested list of students from the Junior and Senior classes. These are tabulated by a faculty committee, and so far as possible the results are used in the actual selection.

The society is national in scope, having chapters in most of the leading high schools of the country. Huntington has been a member of the national organization for about seven years.

Senior members chosen this year are as follows: Max Allen, Mildred Bailey, Martha Beaver, Richard Bixby, Shirley Hawes, Wanda Hubartt, Ruby Iry, Darwin Kelley, Olive Lesh, Max Potts, Eldon Rice, Hazel Clare Robertson, Joe Shock, Miriam Smith, Jane Wheeler, and DeVon Young.

Included in the total of fifteen per cent of the Senior Class are those members who were selected last year while they were Juniors. These are Geraldine Coble, Martha Dungan, Gwendolyn Mahoney, Helen Maranda, Rex Rudicel, and William Scheerer.

The Juniors selected this year are: Maxine Ade, Fred Dick, Miriam Dumbauld, Louis Lichtsinn, Wilda Mae Lucas, Georgiana Redrup, and Thomas Wasmuth.

FOR the second year the National Scholarship Society, primarily organized as a means for establishing and maintaining clean athletics and encouraging high scholastic standing among high scholo athletes, has afforded a means of rewarding Huntington High athletes for outstanding work accomplished in this field.

Membership in the society is acquired through attaining certain specifications set forth by the national association. To become a member an athlete must receive one letter in the major sports, which are football, basketball, baseball, and track; or two letters in the minor sports, which include tennis and second team basketball or football. In addition to this, the applicant's average in his scholastic work for three consecutive semesters must be equal to or higher than the general average of the school. He must also have exemplified the highest type of sportsmanship and citizenship.

In form symbolic of the society's name and purpose, the emblem is composed of a gold key, bearing a large letter "S", standing for scholarship, which is superimposed upon a smaller letter "A", standing for athletics.

The local chapter was organized last year with six charter members being taken in. Of these six membrs, two were left this year as a nucleus of the present society. These two are Ralph Chevalier and Gerald Jung, who were chosen from the football team.

Twelve members were taken into the society, nine from the football team, and three from basketball. These newly chosen members are: Joe Shock, John Berringer, Fred Hosler, Laurence Kethcart, Willis Carroll, Rex Rudicel, Tom Wasmuth Robert Landis and Louis Lichtsinn of the football squad; and Fred Dick, Eugene Steele and Earl Hooton of the basketball team. Of the members four boys are Seniors, one of them, Ralph Chevalier, being a charter member.

THE Quill and Scroll, a National Honor Society for High School Journalists, of which Huntington High School has a chapter, has, during the past year, due to its progressive work, become an international organization.

In order to give recognition to Holt High School, of Liverpool, England, and other foreign schools, the American organization became affiliated with these countries during the past year and thus has gained the name of International Honor Society for High School Journalists.

There are state organizations as well as national and international, the Indiana Chapter being one of the most active in the country. M. McCabe Day, in recognition of his work in the supervision of the Huntington Journalism Department, was elected president of the state organization this spring.

The Quill and Scroll ranks in the school honors on an equal with the Honor Society. Requirements for membership in the society are very high, so it is regarded as the greatest honor that may be given for high school journalism work.

Membership is gained upon the recommendation of the faculty advisor and approval of the national secretary-treasurer. The recommendation must be based upon certain qualities of the work of the candidates.

The candidates must be in the upper third of their class in general scholastic standing, and must have done superior work in writing, editing, or business management of the publications. A statement of the number of column inches published in the school paper must be sent in together with a sample of the best work of the pupil.

Twnty-one members of the school journalism department were accepted into the association this year. Those chosen in the first group are: Dorothea Barnes, Geraldine Coble, Woody DuHadway, Martha Dungan, Dorothy Guhl, Shirley Hawes, Laura Kenner, and William Scheerer.

Those accepted in the second group are:

Maxine Ade, Max Allen, Maxine Chalfant, Ralph Chevalier, Deloris Feighner, Margaret McNabb, Cloyce Nichols, Max Rudicel, Dede Young, Roberta Young, John Spahr, Claude Harger, and Phyllis Sale.

WITH the goal before them to finish payments on the uniforms which were purchased for the High School Band last year, the Parent-Teachers' Association has forged rapidly and smoothly ahead toward the successful fulfillment of their undertaking.

Although plans had been made for the arrangement of a second Hobby Fair, following the one which proved so interesting and successful last year, conflicts brought by the school exhibit in May rendered this project impractical. In its place, a Penny Supper was held in the High School on February 25, a larger profit being made in this manner. To make up the deficit in the fund necessary to pay off the debt for the suits, a donation was taken up among the members of the association.

Outstanding work has been done by the association this year in city and state organization. At one of the regular meetings, which are held monthly, it was decided that the local association should join the State and National Parent Teachers' Association.

The main event of the year was the holding of the Indiana Parent-Teachers' Association Eleventh District Convention here April 22. Large delegations from towns throughout the eleventh district attended the convention. Numbers of special interest on the program were the music furnished by the High School Band and members of the Girls' Glee Club, the lecture given by leaders of education throughout the state, and the open house session at the new Y. M. C. A. The event of most interest on the program was the address given by Willis A. Sutton, the Superintendent of Schools of Atlanta, Georgia.

Throughout these activities of the association this year, a new enthusiasm for the work has been created among the members.

BASING its activities on the prineiples set forth at its origin six years ago, the Student Counеil has fully sueceeded in bringing about student participation in school government.

Members and their alternates to the Counеil were chosen by the sponsor groups during the latter part of September, and meetings have been held since on the average of onee a month. Perhaps the most important of the work accomplished by the Counеil was the appointment of committees to straighten out and regulate various problems of school routine.

Through the efforts of these committees, wooden monitor stands, equipped with placards bearing important announcements and helpful mottoes, were constructed and proved to be of considerable value to the whole school. Also members of the Senior Class were appointed to assist Miss Cage in the work of the scholarships that are offered to the seniors each year by various schools and individuals.

In addition to this, arrangements were made whereby the display case, which was presented to the school by the class of 1928, might become a permanent record of the school's activities rather than a bulletin board for temporary announcements. In connection with this work, a marked improvement has been brought about by the splendid care of a committee in keeping the bulletin a model of cleanliness and timeliness.

Committees appointed to care for these phases of school life were: Scholarship Committee: Richard Bixby, Dorothy Guhl, Gwendolyn Mahoney, and Miss Cage, Chairman; Display Case Committee: Agnes Adams, Ralph Chevalier, Wygtle Smith, and Mr. Day, Chairman; Motto Committee: Wilbur Piepenbrink, Mae Shideler, Betty Young, and Mr. Michael, Chairman; Announcement Committee: Kenneth Balzer, Dick Dennie, Harriette Fields, and Miss Moore, Chairman.

THE brightness and gaiety, the compassion and sympathy, the spirit of helpfulness which has always symbolized the work of the Sunshine Society, has been amply carried out this year by an efficient and well organized staff of officers and committees.

Recognition of the splendid work of the Huntington Society since its organization was given at the state convention in Tipton this year. As acknowledgment of its activities, Huntington was awarded the right to devise the inscription for a window to be put in the Riley Memorial Hospital at Indianapolis. In addition to this, Mildred Bailey was named by the state dean as a model Sunshine president.

Tireless in their efforts to make the Society larger and better, the officers have added to their credit the installation of a new society, that of Warren, and the initiation of approximately one hundred and fifty new girls.

The Society met with financial as well as social success this year. Funds were added to the treasury through the sale of fruit cakes, holly wreaths, senior name cards, tickets for a group of one-act plays sponsored by the Dramatic Committee, painted Easter eggs, and tags.

An outstanding accomplishment was the decorating and furnishing of the Sunshine Room. Through the cooperative kindness and splendid gifts of the girls and others interested in Sunshine, this room has become a veritable bit of radiant sunshine, reflecting the purpose and ambition of the Society.

The predominating social events of the year were the Cinderella Party, the Mothers' Christmas Banquet, the Mothers' Tea, the Dads' Banquet, and the Sponsor's Breakfast.

ALTHOUGH handicapped by the faet that no rooms were available in which they might hold their meetings, the members of the Hi-Y have succeeded in carrying out numerous and worth while activities.

One of the most beneficial and unusual of the activities to be sponsored by the club this year was the formation of a rooting section for the home basketball games. Distinguished by their small caps, especially designed for this purpose, and their enthusiastic yelling, the members who attended the games made a teeming mass of noise and action in the larger gym.

Through the efforts of the local club, members of the Warren High School beeame interested in its functions and ideals, and in October, a Warren chapter was installed with the local officers officiating in the ceremony. Because of the restriction of membership, which is forty-five, only twenty-two new members were initiated into the local chapter this year.

In conjunction with the Sunshine Society, the Hi-Y club presented an auditorium exercise concerning the significance and influence of the Thanksgiving season on November 17. These two organizations also sponsored an Easter Sunrise service, as has been the custom for the last five years, the purpose of which is to bring together in early morning worship the true followers of Christianity.

With the opening of the new Y building in April, regular meetings were resumed and other activities which have been annual affairs for some time were planned for. The annual Mother and Son Banquet was held on April 24, the Father and Son Banquet on May 1, and the Best Girl Banquet on May 15.

The expenses of the club activities were met by the profit made from the sale of tickets for a show sponsored by the Hi-Y club members on March 4, 5, and 6.

DUE to the conflicting activities and outside work of the members of the Latin Club, the plans for this organization were somewhat retarded this year.

The club was primarily organized two years ago with the purpose in mind to create interest in the Cicero and Virgil classes, and to study the phases of Roman life which could not be touched upon in class work.

In an effort to carry out this scheme more fully, a Roman Saturnalia was given at the Christmas season. This festivity was in the form of a Roman banquet, at which Roman food was served and menus printed in Latin were given to the guests.

LATIN CONTEST

The event of most interest in the Latin department this year, and one which has been held for six consecutive years, was the Latin Contest.

The local contest in which all students of Latin participated was held on February 6 and 7, during class hours. Those winning in this test took part in the county test on February 22. These winners from the various divisions were Charlotte Lowey, Audrey Beck, Jeanette Rudig, Ruth Allison, Virginia Branyan, John Spahr, Elizabeth Snyder, Richard Bixby and Berniece Hippensteel.

Three students were winners in the county test and participated in the district contest held in the Wabash High School on March 22. These winners were Elizabeth Snyder, who placed first in the Caesar division; and Richard Bixby and Berniece Hippensteel, who placed first and second respectively in the Cicero division.

Elizabth Snyder was the only one of the three participants in the district contest to place, receiving a silver medal for placing second.

UNDER the capable leadership of Miss McMullan, Le Cercle Francais, during the past year has emerged from its initial state of confusion to one of orderly routine and schedule.

The purpose of the club, as primarily stated, is to provide some of the phases of a study of French for which there is insufficient time in class.

With the election of officers in September, a committee was appointed whose duty it was to set the requirements for active membership in the club. This committee decided that all candidates for entrance to the club should know, in French, the alphabet, the numbers, "La Marseillaise," and the phrases necessary to carry on a business meeting.

At the second semester, the president of the club, having completed the French course of study offered in the school, became ineligible and was succeeded in office by the vice-president, Harriette Fields.

Upon the desire of the larger part of the members, an emblem symbolic of France was chosen by an appointed committee, and pins bearing the emblem were purchased by the members.

In an attempt to increase the membership of the club, a contest was held in April, the losing side atoning for its failure by entertaining the winners at a French party.

The outstanding events of the year were the Valentine Tea, given by the members of the advanced class in honor of the club's active members, and a program honoring the great French heroine, Jeanne d'Arc, given in May.

FOR the third successive year, the Girls' Athletic Association has played a prominent part in the activities of the sport world of the school.

Membership in the local organization, which is a branch of the state association, is determined by the point system. A certain number of points is given to prospective members for participation in the various types of sports, such as tennis, swimming, archery, hiking, and skating. In addition, points are given to those who are successful in becoming gym leaders, or in making the class basketball, volleyball, or baseball teams.

After earning a total of 100 points, the girls are eligible to belong to the association and attend the meetings. Letters are awarded to the girls earning 1,000 points through the various methods outlined.

Throughout the past year special emphasis has been placed upon folk dancing, various girls presenting numbers as a part of the entertainment for club programs.

By the cooperation of the old members and the interest taken in the work by new girls, the membership of the association has increased during the past year to a total of sixty-five.

The main social event of the year was the Hallowe'en Frolic held in the High School gym on October 15. In order to arouse interest in the activities of the club among the freshmen gym classes, each old member took as a guest a new girl in the school. By this method enthusiasm was created and the membership increased, making this organization a vigorous and active one.

N recognition of work done by Huntington High School athletes, an honorary club was organized this year by the boys who have attained a block letter "H" for some work accomplished in the way of athletics.

The purpose of the club, as primarily expressed, is to keep interest in high school activities after graduation and to keep up the interest in sports while in high school.

Under the leadership of Coaches Clum Bucher and Paul Kriegbaum, this honorary organization was devised early in November. The membership is made up of athletes who have earned a letter in one of the three major sports: football, basketball, or baseball.

With the election of officers in February, a regular rountine was adopted with meetings being held every two weeks. A constitution expressing the fundamental purpose and by-laws of the club was drawn up and accepted. The committee in charge of this work consisted of Fred Dick, Louis Lichtsinn, Joseph Shock, Robert Shoemaker, and Tom Wasmuth.

One noteworthy achievement accomplished through the efforts of the H Club was that the members of the Scylding team might be admitted to the sectional basketball tourney free of charge, in recognition of their work throughout the season.

The charter members of this newly founded club are: John Berringer, Harold Blackburn, Willis Caroll, Eugene Casper, Ralph Chevalier, Fred Dick, Fred Hosler, Willis Hosler, Gerald Jung, Laurence Ketheart, Robert Landis, Louis Lichtsinn, Rex Rudicel, Paul Schepper, Joe Shock, Robert Shoemaker, John Wann, Tom Wasmuth, and DeVon Young.

WITH the elapse of the fourth year of the organization of the Girls' Glee Club, a brief survey shows an admirable amount of work undertaken and accomplished.

Upon the desire of the members, pins were adopted and will remain the permanent emblem of the club. The pins are in the shape of a lyre, bearing upon them the engraved letters, "G. G. C." They are of gold and studded with two pearls.

In addition to this, a suitable motto, expressive of the ideals of the club, was selected. The motto is: "Music is love in search of a word."

The work of the club this year has been somewhat similar to that of other years; namely, of providing entertainment for various club programs. In October, a number of the members appeared in the "Harvest" chorus, which furnished music at the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' Conference in Fort Wayne.

They also appeared at meetings of the Rotary and Garden Clubs, at the District Parent-Teachers' Convention in April, and the School Exhibition in May.

Of twenty-six members of the club, fifteen are charter members, and of these fifteen, twelve are graduated this year. Ten were new girls initiated into the club this year.

In recognition of the splendid work accomplished and the precedent established by the charter members of the club, those graduating were presented with a suitable emblem by the school.

An entertainment in accordance with the Valentine season was given at the home of one of the girls on February 14. This stands out on the social calendar as the time for the initiation of ten new members.

WITH the idea in mind to produce an annual entirely different from any that had preceded it, the Modulus staff took up the reins extended, and proceeded stolidly to completion.

The theme for the book is based upon Confucius, a Chinese teacher, whose sagacity and moral teachings form a foundation for the religious principles of millions of his countrymen today. The art work was in keeping with the Chinese theme, carrying out the vivid, contrasting colors characteristic of that race.

That the repetition of pictures from the class to the activities sections migh be avoided, a plan was devised whereby emblems raher than the photos of individuals might represent the extra-curricular activities of the school. Another outstanding change in the appearance of the book was made by the reduction from the unwieldly proportions of the books of former years to that of the standard book size.

As in former years, advertising was entirely eliminated from the makeup of the book, and other means were sought for financing its publication. Following the precedent established last year, the business department constructed and sold to the merchants, mailing lists, containing the names and addresses of all school children in the county. A paper campaign was also conducted by the business department.

But the outstanding feature of the financial campaign was the sponsoring of the Gold and Blue Revue, a vaudeville made up entirely of school talent.

"SKIDDING"

"SKIDDING," a play whose plot is founded upon the appealing and ever-changing intricacies of family life, was enjoyed by capacity crowds at both the afternoon performance, on January 14, and those in the evening, January 15 and 16.

The part of "Aunt Milly," an old maid school teacher who has managed to keep a sense of humor and a smile, was ably enacted by Shirley Hawes. Richard Bixby portrayed with remarkabe ease and natural ability the part of "Andy," an unkempt lazy lad in his teens who loses his heart and then his girl, finally finding himself successfully engaged in the real estate business.

Ruby Iry displayed admirable talent as "Mrs. Hardy," the mother, downtrodden and overwhelmed by an overbearing family.

Max Potts excellently portrayed the part of "Judge Hardy," a staid and composed politician who uses honor as his code, but finds his position skidding with the approach of election. However, his dignity is saved by the dynamic personality of his piquant and resourceful daughter, "Marion," well played by Maxine Chalfant. The part of "Wayne Trenton, III," a young gentleman from New York who is in love with "Marion" but believes that the woman's place is in the home, was taken by Bertram May.

Mildred Bailey as "Myra" and Jane Wheeler as "Estelle" were excellent as the two daughters who leave their husbands to come home to mother, only to find that mother will not stand for their nonsense. Joe Shock took the part of "Grandpa Hardy," a cobbler from the old country, who brings matters to a climax by presenting "Marion" with a pair of wedding slippers. Charles Lay typified the swaggering and boastful "Stubbins," a political boss of the modern type.

REVUE

AN entertainment entirely different from any ever presented by the school before, was stagd by the Journalism Department on March 21 and 22. This unusual feature, "The Gold and Blue Revue," was undertaken as a method for raising funds for the publication of the Modulus, and because of its overwhelming success, is to be used in modified form in future years for the same purpose.

Interwoven about the scene of a modern night club, this theme afforded an amazing opportunity to portray natural talent found among the students of the school.

Special dance choruses, cleverly costumed in garb suitable to their numbers, were well received and violently applauded by the huge audiences on both nights. Talent previously unheard of was unearthed in the characterizations by students of celebrities of the modern world.

That the ticket sales might be increased and enthusiam spurred on, a contest by which a Senior girl was to be chosen as Queen of the Revue, was initiated. The chosen one was crowned by the master of ceremonies with the entire cast paying homage to her.

Other special features of the presentation were the Kiddie Revue, the girls' style shows, succeeded by an equally revealing showing by the boys, the comedy skits, and special musical numbers.

The success of the production was due entirely to work within the school, no outside assistance being used. Through the work of Miss Alice Miller in improvising and directing the dances, of Miss Geraldine Brown and Miss Alice Kline in desiging and supervising the costuming, of Mr. Day in directing the orchestra and arranging all other details, and of the splendid cooperation of the students, the presentaion was a complete and indisputable success.

SUNSHINE

ONE of the highlights of the Sunshine Society's school year was the presentation of the fanciful play, "Three Pills in a Bottle," during a regular bi-weekly meeting on Thursday, October 24.

This small bit of colorful fancy was well received and warmly praised by all who were fortunate enough to see it. The dramatic talent portrayed was a result of the long and tedious work of all the characters and the effective costuming was achieved by the efficient and artistic Costume Committee.

Visualizing the inside soul and internal feelings of the masses, the nucleus of the plot is wound about a small invalid boy's hunger for companionship and entertainment. Lacking the natural privileges which are given to all normal children, this mite of sunshine sought comfort and relief from pain in observing and analyzing the people who passed his window.

When health is finally extended to him in the medium of three pills, Tony gives this medicine away to the suffering souls of three of his window friends. Thus, through his unselfishness in giving his medicine to the warped, dried-up soul of the rich man, to the beautiful, idealistic soul of the scrub woman, and to the singing, merry soul of the scissors grinder, Tony reaches the pinnacle of happiness and contentment.

PLAYS

THE unselfish helpfulness and good will of the Sunshine Society was typified by their annual Christmas play, "Bringers of Gifts," which was presented in the auditorium on December 20.

The theme of this impressive pageant was based upon God's gift to the human race of a saviour. The play was divided into two parts, the setting of the first being placed in the Holy Land on the night of the birth of a king, to his meeting with the Wise Men who have been following the mysterious, scintillating star; and from thence to the lowly birthplace of the immortal Child King, each bearing his gift of gold, frankincense, and myrrh.

The second part is symbolical of man's unending gratitude toward the Holy One for His wonderful gifts, and in a ritual of utmost sincerity and devotion the spirits of Love, Charity, Loyalty, Progress, and Generosity place their gifts at the foot of the manger.

The amosphere of the whole play is one of reverence and gratitude, of undying appreciation of God for the wonders he has bestowed upon man. This attitude was well characterized by the simple setting always associated with the birth of Christ and the deeply understanding portrayal of each character.

The characterization of each role was well carried out by the following people: A Young Shepherd, Isabelle Bolinger; Other Shepherds, Mary Newell and Miriam Smith; Three Wise Men, Ethel Chalmers, Leona Fansler, and Dorothy Smith; Mary, Mother of Jesus, Elizabeth Ewing; Heralds, Helenjane Meier and Jean Smith; Civilization, Lucile Wienke; Industry, Margaret Goshorn; Commerce, Claribel Telfer; Generosity, Betty Young; Loyalty, Harriette Fields; Spirit of Love, Lois Swihart; Spirit of Music, Jane Knight; and Spirit of Progress, Dorothy Hannon.

BAND

THROUGH the untiring diligence and endless efforts of Carter Brown, a new member of the faculty this year, the High School band has maintained and perhaps surpassed its excellent standard of previous years.

The bands were organized by a new plan this year, being classed as Band 1, Band 2, and Band 3. Band 1 is composed of beginners, Band 2 of intermediate pupils, and Band III of advanced pupils, who played at all athletic events. There were a total of ninety members enlisted in the band classes.

The advanced band was organized at the first of the year, and plans made to furnish music at the football games. Throughout the entire duration of the gridiron sport season, bravely enduring the inclemency of the weather, the flashingly colorful uniforms and the cheery, warming arias of the band of music-makers might be seen and heard at each athletic tilt, cheering and urging the team on to victory.

With the beginning of the basketball season, the band again made its appearance, furnishing a spot of concentrated color and a note harmony in the midst of a bedlam of confusion and noise. Always faithful to their duty, this organization followed a victorious basketball team to the regional tournament, there vying spiritedly with the Fort Wayne band.

In addition to appearing at the athletic contests, the band gave several special programs of great interest and value. Two programs were given as auditorium exercises and proved to be bits of pleasing variety to those who heard them. Groups of the band also furnished programs for entertainments outside of the school activities, among them being the program furnished for the convention of the Parent-Teachers Association held here in April.

The members of the band are: clarinets, Joe Foote, Ruby Iry, Ruth Wike, Dean Martin, Russel Hubartt, Dean Fowerbaugh, John Circle, Robert Young, Donald Snider and Helen Jane Cook.

Cornets: Dea Michael, Don Fouse, Carl Bailey, Muriel Mahoney, Delbert Hoon, Jean Smith, Laura Fullhart, Robert Miller, Donald Freehafer and Gerald Smith.

Flute: Paul Cozad.

French Horns: Harry Shaefer, Louis Nie and Heiney Wagner.

Saxophones: Myrtle Septer, Alfred Dolsen, Alma Yarger and Meredith Wheeler.

Sousaphones: Milford Toopes and Stanley Myers.

Drums: John Spahr, Robert Rice, Richard Guthier and Nola Yarger.

ORCHESTRA

BECAUSE of conflicting activities of the school curriculum, the orchestra has been less active this year than in former years. However, splendid work was done in the limited time available for practice and performance.

The orchestra was organized during the first week of school with several members trying out for places. A special invitation was extended to Freshmen in the school with the hope of obtaining several new members that might gain experience for next year's orchestra. Numerous practices were held that the orchestra might gain in technique and skill. A large amount of new music was also puchased.

Among other activities this year, the orchestra played at all presentations of the Senior play, also playing for the Commencement exercise as has been their custom for several years.

The members of the orchestra are:

Violins: John Spahr, Wilda Mae Lucas, Fred Dick, Marguerite Buzzard, Dorothy Kenner, Esther Repp, Mabel Garber, Edith Stephan, Evelyn Cox, Raymond Blocker, Ruth Robbins, Lois Forster and Louise Herman.

Clarinets: Ruby Iry, Joe Foote, Dean Martin and Ruth Wike.

Saxophones: Myrtle Septer, Carl Bailey and Alma Yarger.

Cornets: Dea Michaels, Muriel Mahoney and Helen Schell.

Trombones: William Close and Marjorie Rhodenbaugh.

Drums: Richard Guthier.

Bass: Milford Toopes.

French Horns: Louis Nye and Elizabeth Snyder.

Piano: Gwendolyn Mahoney.

FORENSICS

BY defeatig three out of four opponents to win the championship of the district, the Huntington team gained the right to participate in the state meet this year, a pinnacle of success never before attained in the history of the school.

Because of a weakness in presenting the negative case, the team fell before Goshen, later champions, in the semi-finals of the state, but it holds the honor of having one of its members, Dick Bixby, selected on the all state team.

In order to accomplish more effective work, the committee in charge of the debating composed of Miss Beatrice Brown, Mr. Day, and Miss Tyner, reduced the number of debaters in the State League contests to one team. This team though somewhat handicapped by having to debate both sides of the question, secured three victories against opposing teams during the season and two victories at the state meet.

The members of the team are Dick Bixby, Miriam Dumbauld, Darwin Kelley, and Eldon Rich, alternate.

The question adopted by the association for debate was the same as that used in the Northeast Indiana Conference: "Resolved, That the State of Indiana should adopt a general system of old age pensions." Two members of the team are Seniors, while the Juniors have one representative. Since the team has met with such sweeping success in the 1930 season, and has forged its way to the state meet, it is probable that Huntington will be represented in the state league next year.

DEBATE LEAGUE

FROM a total number of thirty-four appearing for debate tryouts in October, eight pupils were successful in making the first squad.

Strengthened by capable coaching and experienced members, the teams were able to forge through to victory in two out of four debates, the affirmative and negative squads each winning one contest.

Victories were chalked up against Columbia City and Warsaw, who, along with Huntington and four other schools, are members of the Northeast Indiana Debate League. The other schools in the League are Central, South Side, and North Side of Fort Wayne, and Bluffton.

The question selected for the debates this year was, "Resolved: That Indiana should adopt by law the principle of old age pension."

Those who were successful in making the affirmative squad are Shirley Hawes, Darwin Kelley, Tom Wasmuth, and Eldon Rice, alternate.

SECOND DEBATE TEAM

AN ingenious plan in debate work was inaugurated this year whereby a second debate team was organized, this working up experience for next year's team and furnishing a reserve upon which the first team might depend in case of necessity.

Contests with other schools were arranged, and valuable practice and experience were gained by the debaters. The subject for the second team debate was the same as that of the first, "Resolved: That Indiana should adopt by law the principle of old age pensions."

The team has to their credit two victories and two losses, all of them with the first debate teams of Decatur and Ossian.

Members of the affirmative team are Georgiana Redrup, Donald Freehafer, Jean Smith, and Fredonia Stewart, alternate.

ORATORY AND ESSAY

HUNTINGTON High School has again gained prominence through participation in oratorical and essay contests.

Thomas Wasmuth, a Junior, following his precedent established in two former years in high school, won the right to compete in the annual State Peace Declamation Contest, and emerged fifth in a field of ten. Tom won the right of participating in the final test by eliminating all opponents in the district contest at Van Buren early in April.

Richard Bixby, a participant in the State Constitutional Contest, achieved distinction by placing first in the local, county, and district contests, but met with defeat in the zone contest at Gary.

In the essay contest sponsored by the Huntington County Bar Association on the Constitution, Eldon Rice, a Senior, placed third in the county competition. The essays and addresses were prepared by the students and submitted to a committee for judging.

COMMERCIAL CONTEST

FOR the first time in the history of the school, Huntington has sent representatives to the state commercial contest, which was held in Muncie on April 26.

The advanced and beginning teams in shorthand and the bookkeeping team won the right to compete in the state contest by placing first in the district test, which was held in Ossian on April 12.

At the contest held in Ossian, the advanced typewriting team placed second, Anita Stresemann securing undivided honors by placing second in the individual contest. In the beginning typewriting contest, Gwendolyn Mahoney placed third.

In the beginning shorthand contest, Helen Weber took first in the individual test, and Lola Kimmel took third. Anita Stressmann and Pauline Beverly won honors by placing first and second respectively in the advanced individual shorthand division.

The bookkeeping team not only placed first in the contest, but Rex Rudicel also won individual honors for the school, ranking far above his nearest competitor.

The teams for the district were chosen through elimination in regular class work. Before entering the district, the advanced typewriting team had a rate of one hundred words a minute for business letters for three minutes, and ninety words a minute for literary copy for three minutes. The beginning team had a rate of seventy words a minute for business letters for three minutes, and sixty words a minute for literary copy for three minutes.

The district of which Huntington is a member is composed of sixteen schools in all. These are: Arcola, Berne, Bluffton, Clear Creek, Decatur, Geneva, Hartford Township, Huntington Township, Monmouth, Monroe, Monroeville, Montpelier, ad New Haven.

Representing Huntington on the advanced shorthand team were: Pauline Beverly, Frances Shenkel, and Anita Stresemann. Those in the beginning team were: Mabel Garber, Lola Kimmel, and Helen Weber.

Those selected for the advanced team in typing were: Olive Lesh, Mabel Redding, and Anita Stresemann. The beginning typewriting team consisted of Joe Foote, Gwendolyn Mahoney, and Helen Weber.

The members chosen for the bookkeeping team were: Zelma Hoag, Jane Knight, and Rex Rudicel.

STRENGTH

"Do not glory in your strength;
there is always a stronger."

---Confucius

COACH CLUM BUCHER, after being graduated from Indiana University in the spring of 1928, came to Huntington the following fall and began his coaching career, in which he has already produced probably the which he has already produced probably the outstanding teams to represent this school in its history.

Probably the most outstanding team that he has yet produced, and has yet been produced in the school, was the 1929 undefeated baseball team that laid claim to the state championship with Tech of Indianapolis. Their final windup revealed that they had ten straight wins and no defeats.

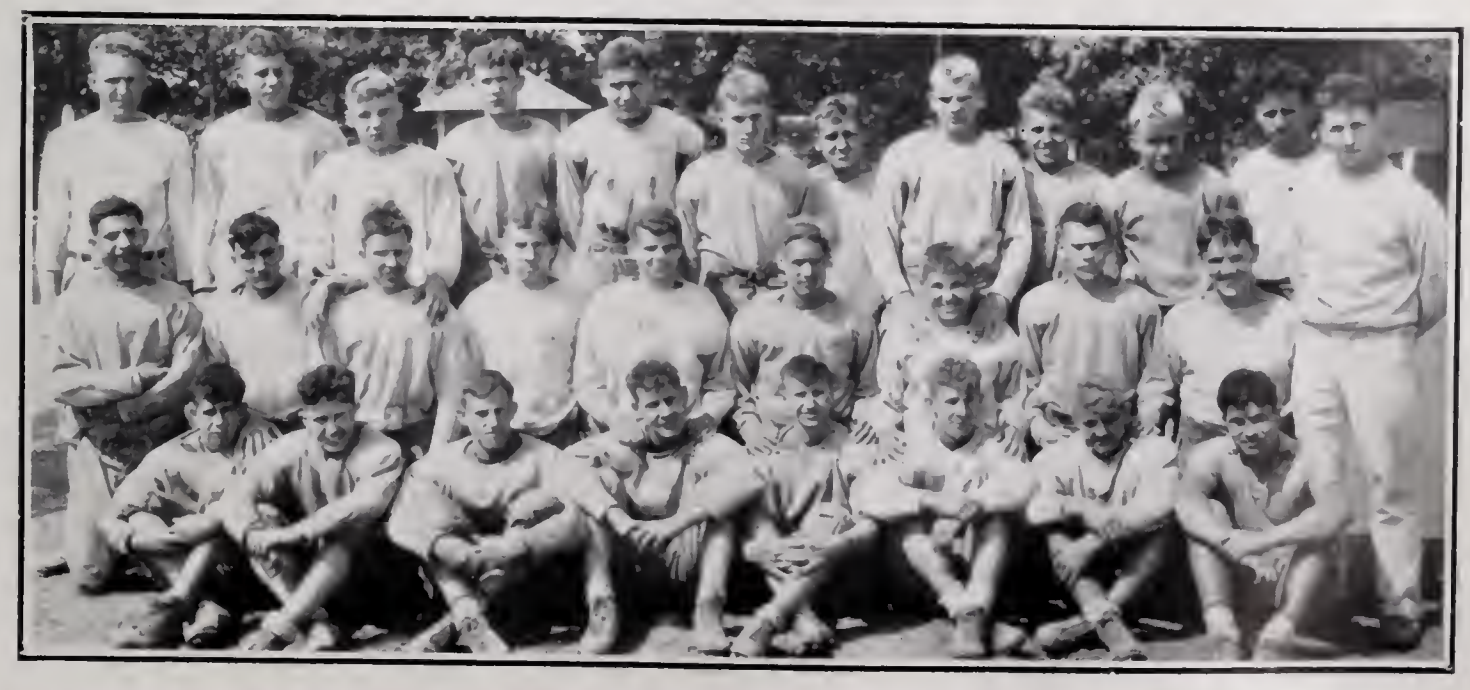
With the beginning of the football season last fall, Coach Bucher did not have a great deal of material to pick from. However, after the athlees reurned home from he raining camp in ahe lattr part of August, "Buch" had quite a few of prospective try-outs, and thus all was not lost. This grid team revealed one of the best comebacks ever recorded on the books of high school teams. In their last five games they were undefeated. They tied with Wabash aftr the opponents had the game cinched, marching 99 yards for a touchdown and an extra point to tie up score. This year the Scyldings were just as successful as in previous years, although the coach had twenty men to work with this last basketball season.

ROBERT SHOEMAKER carried away the honors of practically every game when it came to summarizing the conflict between the Vikings and their opponents. So when the season had drawn the curtain until next fall it was "Bob" that was chosen by his teammates to represent them o nthe gridiron by wearing the letter sweater given to the most prominent member of the team.

Throughout his junior year "Bob" was a constant fighter on the grid and by his early effort in fundamentals during his third year, it was revealed by him that he could more than play his part on the eleven. As a junior and earlier part of his senior year he played center, but by shifting him to the guard berth he showed value at that position instead, thus he was transferred.

"Bob" was a consistent star that continually played up to his form in every game, which won him the gratitude of his fellow players and of the crowds from the sidelines.

During the practice sessions, it was "Bob" with his determined grit, who never shirked while drilling on the fundamental work, such as tackling, blocking and making holes which is tedious and filled with hard knocks that only boys that are inclined a little above the average can stand.



VIKING

GAINING momentum throughout the season, which finally revealed the Vikings as having one of the strongest football teams throughout this section, the Norsemen staged a determined comeback to obtain three straight victories and a tie score to end the 1929 schedule.

On Saturday, September 14, the Vikings met the strong North Side of Fort Wayne team, for the dedication combat of the Kriegbaum Field. The half was reached without either side netting a point. However, in the third quarter, the rampant Vikings came through with a six-pointer, only to miss the point in kicking. Thoughout the rest of the game the Norsemen staged a terriffic defensive battle that held the Indians at bay until the closing minutes of play, when Coach Bucher sent some reserve material to finish the fray, only to be stunned by seeing the Indians complete a long pass and come through with the extra point, and watch his team go down to defeat.

The blow from the loss of this game was overwhelming, and nearly extinguished the burning spirit of the Norse. The following three games showed improvement over the dedication game, but they brought defeat for the Vikings at the hands of the strong Logansport team, South Side of Fort Wayne Archers, and the Kokomo Wild Kats.

The most outstanding of these games dealt with the Kats at their lair. The Kokomo team scored early in the first quarter on a bad punt by the Red and Black, but nevertheless, the Vikings settled down and played the Kats to a standstill for the remainder of the game. In the meantime the Norse punter stepped out of the end zone to give Kokomo an extra two-pointer. This game added confidence to the downhearted Huntington eleven, who determined to come out with some victories before the season's finis.

After playing the Peru Circus City lads off their stance in the first half, the Vikings faltered in the second, only to let the Tigers, a weaker team, run wildly over them. It seems that the true fault of this game is that the local aggression depended too much on his team-mate to produce the goods and that the much accounted "Jinx," which has been with the two schools ever since they have had athletic relations, had nothing to do with it. If ever there was a time to defeat the Circus City lads, it was at this date

In the remaining games Lady Luck was to be kinder to the Vikings than in former games when she had been so sparing of her favors, which had been so costly to the Red and Black warriors. She, through her discriminating manner, had always been prying the Vikings out of a victory that should have been theirs without a doubt.

The first victims to fall before the local aggregation were the Warsaw Tigers. The most outstanding feature exhibited in this game was the strong aerial attack of the Vikings, which netted huge gains and subdued the Tigers.

FOOTBALL

It was the crack of the gun in the first half which saved the Gold and Black from further disappointment. However, the Viking squad came back on the field in a fighting spirit, which finally crushed the Warsaw team's hopes of winning and brought victory to the Norsemen. It was during the first half Bob Shoemaker gave an outstanding exhibition of a superior brand of football by crashing through the Tigers' line and gaining to his credit 17 tackles, which, if he had not made, would have been mighty costly to the Norsemen.

The next week brought the Columbia City Eagles to Norseland, and it was on this day that the Vikings let loose and swamped the Eagles by a 31 to 6 score for their second victory of the season.

Coach Bucher took his gridders to Bluffton for the second game in November. As a result of over-confidence, the Sea Rovers nearly lost this game, since they were trailing at the half by a 13 to 0 score. Nevertheless, the Huntington squad regained their feet in the last period, and scored two touchdowns and a touchback to forge ahead and proclaim themselves master of the Tigers.

This game revealed subtle stretegy on the part of Rex Rudicel, the diminutive quarterback, who called signals that worked consistently at the bewilderment of Coach Clum Bucher. This game also revealed in the last half, that Bucher had a reliable man to fill Chevalier's position at fullback; and next year it is up to Tom Wasmuth to do his duty in repeating his performance against the Bluffton Tigers.

Saturday, November 16, was the date set for the Wabash Hill Climbers' appearance on the local gridiron for the annual homecoming fray. This game was probably the most spectacular in the season's schedule. The powerful Jones of Wabash was constantly stopped by the Norse linemen in the first half, but by strenuous effort finally pushed the ball over for a touchdown and point. The score stood 7 to 0 for Wabash.

It was at a later time in the last half that the Hill City boys came within one-half yard of their goal, but lost it on downs, because of the resistance of the Huntington line. At this time the Vikings began probably one of the longest marches down the field in the history of Indiana high school football. Passing the ball continuously for ninety-nine and one-half yards, the Norse put the ball over for a touchdown and made their point afterward by the same route.

Robert Shoemaker—Won the hearts of the fans and his fellow players at the guard berth by his ability to crash through the offensive lines and down the ball carriers for a loss. His never daunted spirit kept the morale of the team at its height. As a result of his outstanding playing he was awarded the Red and Black honor sweater by his team mates. This season ended his career on the gridiron.

John Berringer—Could always be depended upon to put into a game all that he could get out of it. He was unusually strong in stopping end runs and turning plays in toward tackle. "Edison" is another to take advantage of the 1930 season for Huntington High.

Harold Blackburn—After exhibiting some wonderful football in the first two games of the season, Harold received an injury which forced him to stay out of the majority of the games, but was back on the rectangular field before the season's finis. His strategy in stopping long end runs and snagging long passes made him one of the cleverest ends ever to wear the Red and Black colors.

Willis Carroll—Smashing through the opposing team on off-tackle plays and always netting yardage for the Norsemen, Unce's never dying spirit brought him much praise from both team and fans. Much is expected from him next year, and great will be the chagrin of the opponents when they learn that he is still one of the main masts in the Viking's ship.

Eugene Casper—During the earlier part of the season, "Gene' was one of the outstanding Vikings, but an injury received in the Logansport game slackened him up for most of the season. However, he came out for the remainder of the year, and by the last few games was back to old form at a back position. His football days come to a close this year.

Ralph Chevalier—Held down the fullback position quite creditably. His constant backing up the line gained him his position and brought him into the lime light. He could always be depended upon to buck the line for a few yards, and was high scorer of the season, which indeed showed his worth to the Vikings. This is Chevy's last year of performance, much to our regret.

Frederic Hosler—Alternating at end and tackle, "Feck" easily outclassed all opponents on both offense and defense. His long passes and his ability in receiving them greatly aided the Sea Rovers in gaining ground. Much to our gratitude he will be with us next year fighting for the old Huntington High School.

Willis Hosler—This giant end was unusually active in receiving passes. His lack of speed was made up by his cool-headedness and his ability to sense plays, which brought him much praise. He could always be depended upon to do his best in every game, and this player was of great value to the team. This position will be filled by him for the coming two years.

Gerald Jung—Playing his second year of football, "Jerry" was shifted to tackle from guard, where he was of infinite value to the squad. His consistent punting kept the threatening elevens out of scoring distance and often netted much ground for the Vikings. His vacancy will not come until the season of 1931 is ended.

Lawrence Kethcart—Developed into a backfield man in one season and revealed some football instinct that he didn't know was in him. His long gains on end runs and returning kickoffs made him a spectacular feature with the Vikings. This is "Kitty's" last year for the Norse.

Robert Landis—Without any experience at the first of the season, "Bob" became one of the most dependable men in the line at the tackle berth. He was outstanding in the Warsaw game, and it was here that he showed himself capable of the responsibility of his position.

Louis Lichtsinn—Having played in the line last year, he was shifted to half position where he became quite dependable. He was noted for his speed, and ability to run around the ends. "Alby" was a member of the team last year and has another year of football to perform for the Sea Rovers.

Rex Rudicel—Although little but mighty, "Grunt" was a mountain of strength to the team during the latter part of the season. His squirming little form slipped through opponents' hands and wriggled from under pile-ups, constantly gaining ground. The quarterback position was always open to him, and his loss will be hard to take for next year.

Paul Schepper—Has two years left to demonstrate his tact on the gridiron for the Red and Black. His determination to plug up holes at the guard position gave him his place on the squad. He was a capable man to play on both offense and defense, and with experience should give any contender for state honors a good run.

Joe Shock—Was discovered to be a main factor in the Viking ship during the season. His accurate passes from center gave the Norse the advantage in working their plays on the foe. His defensive work was very commendable and dampened the enthusiasm of other teams. This year ended "Toots'" gridiron activity.

Clyde Todd—A recruit from last year, played in very good fashion. He stopped many from piercing the line by slashing through and tackling the runner before he could get started. "Toad" will be lost by graduation this year.

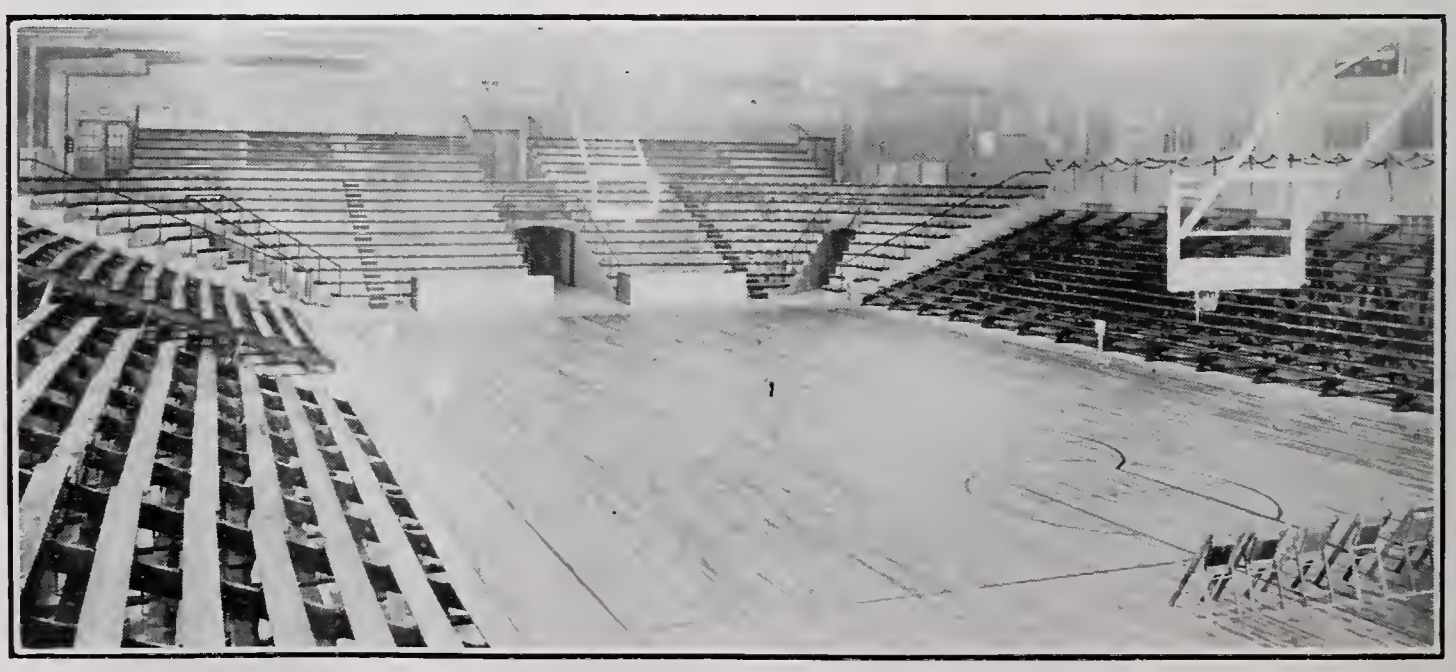
Deed Young—Completed his fourth year by wearing the gold stripe, which was awarded to him by the last year's team. His regular position was tackle, but he was shifted from one position to another for the benefit of the team. Deed received an injury in the Peru game that kept him out until the last game with Wabash, which was his final exhibition for Huntington High.

PAUL KRIEGBAUM—"If more freshmen and sophomores would come out for athletics, Huntington High School would have much better teams in the near future," were the words of Coach Kriegbaum, basketball and track coach, and also atheletic director of the Huntington schools. He went on to say that, "The experience gained in the first two years would be invaluable for the school and athletes themselves."

This is quite true. In every sport activity in the local school, the lower classmen have a tendency to shirk in their first two years in school because they think that they are not capable to hold down a berth on any of the squads.

"Kriegie" has been with Huntington High for four years. During this time he has constantly built up teams, from his first year with us in the fall of 1926 until the present. He is undoubtedly the most popular coach that Huntington High has ever possessed in the history of the school.

In his season of basketball, Paul produced one of the smoothest running teams in this part of the state, and only by a couple of tough breaks that went against the Huntington netters during the regional ourney, were his hopes in going to the state tournament shattered. However, with six men remaining from this year's squad, four of them towering around the six-foot mark, his possibilities for next year are unusually good.



REX RUDICEL was unanimously chosen to receive the sweater award given by the Athletic Board at the close of every major sport for being the most valuable player on the team. It was likewise, at the beginning of the hardwood season, that he was chosen to be the captain of the Vikings in which he was more than worthy in holding the honor.

"Mountain" was constantly making an effort throughout the season to benefit the team in spirit, fundamentals, practice, or whatever was lacking. Because of his effort, Rex was bound to reveal that his heart was set for the betterment of the team.

His smallness and consistent playing gained the hearts of many fans, thus bringing throngs of rooters into sympathy with the Vikings. His strength was huge in puncturing the net, and his fighting was the stalwart wall of the Sea Rovers. It can be said that Rex never lost his head during a game with the utmost truth.

Rex's versatility and pep throughout his athletic career was the main feature of every game, and it is only by the lingering concentration of years passed by, that fans will remember the neat little form of "Captain Rex Rudicel" striving on the hardwood, always looking forward to a bigger and better goal.

VIKINGS

HUNTINGTON High School was well represented on the hardwood this season, which by the efforts of Coach Paul Kriegbaum and players was termed a success.

The Vikings, of which the majority were recruits from the gridiron, had but eleven days to prepare for their first encounter with the strong Warren Lightning Five on their home floor, and it was at this game that the local school was defeated by a county team, for the fourth time in the history of Huntington High's athletics. The other county teams that have defeated the Norsemen are Clear Creek twice, and Andrews once.

The next game to occur came with the Muncie Bearcats, when the Vikings staged a beautiful battle and had the Cats by the whiskers at the half with a 10 to 8 score. However, in the last half Muncie substituted Mann, a large negro, (later all state center,) at the pivot position, which proved to be too much for the smaller Viking guards. Thus the Blue and White nudged out the Norsemen for a victory.

Following the Muncie game came Clear Creek and Auburn respectively, in which the Vikings triumphed over them in a somewhat like manner. Both games were a nip and tuck fray throughout, and it was in the Auburn contest that the Vikings revealed some real basketball. This game went to the Vikings' head, and on the following evening they lost to Garret, a much weaker team.

During the Christmas vacation, the Red and Black met up with some rather strong opposition. As a result Huntington came through with two victories and the same number of defeats. They are as follows in order: Rochester, Bluffton, Decatur and Mooseheart. Rochester defeated the Vikings in an upset contest and likewise Decatur; but on the other hand the Sea Rovers edged out Bluffton and ran rampant over Mooseheart, an out-of-state team.

The next week Kendallville ventured to Norseland with a record of eight straight victories to their credit, but by the end of the forty-minute period a black mark was chalked up against them registering defeat.

On the next night the Norsemen evened their per cent of wins and losses by defeating the Wabash Hill Climbers on their territory. Both teams played a wonderful defensive game. Despite this fact, the Vikings penetrated the hoop a little more than the Hill Climbers could stand. Thus the game ended as was expected.

Coming from Fort Wayne, the Central Tigers overthrew the Vikings in a hard-fought game at the Community Gym. Huntington at one time held a 13 to 4 advantage, and it looked as though the Vikings had the game sacked. However, the Junglemen brought the score up until at the half, the score stood 15 to 12 for the locals. The second half was a complete reversal in the brand of ball. The result showed the Blackshirts were on the wrong end of the score for a victory.

services of Captain Rudicel, Hosler, and Kethcart, met the Trojans. Nevertheless, Huntington came through for a victory after trailing in the second half by a 24 to 15 score.

The following four battles to come on the Viking's list were Columbia City, Fort Wayne North Side, Angola, and Hartford City. The first three of these were easy prey for the Red and Black squad, but the fourth game was too much for the Vikings on a little floor, and they went down to defeat at the hands of the Airdales.

The Norsemen were at their highest peak of their form when meeting Jefferson here Friday, February 7, and as a result, after furious fighting, the Vikings came through in an overtime fray to beat the Jeffs by a one point margin. Jefferson had previously defeated the state champs, and in another tilt with them forced them to a double overtime game in which they lost.

In preparation for the tournament, the Vikings lost the games with Peru and Fort Wayne South Side. However, the Vikings gained their way to the Fort Wayne Regional after having played the hardest schedule of any team in the sectional tournal tournament.

Huntington's hopes of going to the state were shattered by Central. After trailing for the entire game up until the last four minutes of play, the Tigers broke through for a couple of field goals and thus ended the 1929-1930 basketball season.

Rex Rudicel—The diminutive forward who was forever bothering the opponents' guards with his speedy dribbling and faking shots, was elected Captain due to his previous year of performance in which he was high scorer. "Mountain" used his smallness to advantage, slipping under the guards' arms for a pointer.

DeVon Young—Alternated at floor guard and back guard. He was well proportioned in offense as well as in defense. "Deed" won the foul trophy which was given to the player with the highest per cent throughout the year. This is his final year under the Red and Black stripes.

Kenneth Clapp—The next to the smallest player on the team. His sagacity in faking shots and then counting for a two-pointer gained him recognition which accompanied him throughout the season. "Kenny" came from Clear Creek two years ago and much to the regret of basketball fans receives his diploma this spring.

Clyde Todd—Developed into one of the fleetest forwards ever to play on the Viking squad. His year began with the Scyldings, but it was soon revealed that his worth to the first string was needed immensely. "Toad" was always netting baskets from anywhere on the floor, discouraging the foe to a great degree.

Lawrence Kethcart—Devoted his time with the Vikings at the floor guard position at which he played to a good advantage. His manner in dribbling and his ability to connect with long shots won the fans over. "Kitty's" meek little form will not be seen in action when Coach Kriegbaum calls for try-outs next year.

Frederick Hosler—Was kept out of the early part of the season because of an injury received in football, but after once regaining his strength, came out and was probably the only consistent player to hold down his berth. His long swishing baskets from center and his almost unpenetrable guarding were the spectacular features of every game.

Willis Carroll—Started out with the Scyldings, but as the season progressed, found himself on the first string, playing a regular berth. "Unee" is a junior and he probably will hold his regular position on the squad next winter. He was always a witty player during this season, and if he is the same next year, watch his name be praised.

Willis Hosler—The tall lanky center had an unusual eye for the basket, and as a result was high scorer of the season. "Babe" has two more years to compete in sports for Huntington High School, and undoubtedly he will turn out to be one of the best athletes to be produced by the school.

Earl Hooton—A junior who towers above the majority of his fellow classmen, used his lengthiness to follow in shots, and his energy jumping center. "Hoot" will be on the hardwood next year among the other six-footers.

John Berringer—Developed on the Scyldings last year and won a berth on the Vikings this season. Although he did not see much action to reveal his ability, "Edison" was always ready to be sent into the game at any moment. He still has another year of opportunity, and great things are expected from him.

SCYLDINGS

FOR the first time in the history of the second team, the Scyldings carried twenty men in order that more underclassmen could have a better chance of gaining knowledge of and experience in the fundamentals of basketball, and to create more interest in the lower classes.

The team had a decidedly successful season, taking into camp 13 teams and losing only 6. The total points for the Scyldings was 474 to their opponents 362, a difference of 112.

Is their initial game with the Warren High School Reserves, they won by one-point margin in a real battle. At the half the Warren team had the Scyldings in the hole by a 9 to 6 score. However the plucky home team came through and at the end of the game the score measured up to 17 to 16.

At the next game, the Muncie Bearkittens were too playful for them, and they went down to defeat by a 13 to 8 score in a twenty minute contest. The score at the half was 11 to 15 and the remaining time was an even break between the two teams. The last half marked a beautiful defense by both teams since they only scored 5 points during the entire half. However the Scyldings were unable to overcome the first half advantage held by their opponents.

Clear Creek was next to venture toward the Scyldings, and the little Sea Rovers ran rampant over the Bulldog Seconds. They took Garrett and Bluffton respectively, but bowed to Decatur in the following tilt.

The next team to serve the Scyldings opposition was the strong Union Center county team which had won a good reputation because of its strength, but at the end of the forty-minute period the Bucherites held the front of the score by 35 to 27.

In the following game with Kendallville, which was also cut short because of the lack of time. The minor lettermen came within 3 points in shutting out their opponents. The score tallied at the half with a 6 to 0 count, but in the closing minutes of play, Kendallville scored a field goal and a foul to make the final count 15 to 3.

The Scylding ventured to Wabash on their next game and won a hotly contested fracas, the score being 20 to 17. When the Central Tiger-Cubs came to Vikingland, Bucher's men had taken too big a bite, going down to defeat with a rather top-heavy score at the hands of the Junglemen.

The remaining games were chalked up as 6 wins and 3 defeats. The first of these was with North Manchester, whom the Junior Norse swamped by almost a 30-point margin.

BASKETBALL

The next week, the Scyldings entered the Second Team Invitational tourney sponsored by the Huntington Athletic association. In their first game with the strong Marion Reserves, they eked out a one-point victory, but in their second contest were dropped by Decatur 30 to 22.

When they had recovered from this defeat, Angola, Banquo, and Auburn were added to their list of victories, all by goodly scores. Taking on the strong Peru outfit, that had copped the Second Team Tournament a few weeks before, the Scyldings proved their mettle by losing only 24 to 23. The Junior Vikings held the lead at the half, but lost out when Peru inserted substitutes from the varsity squad.

Showing a complete reversal of form from that tilt, they lost to Roanoke's varsity second five in a strilling double-overtime affair. Bucher used entirely his second string players up until the last minutes of play, as he run in the first five it seemed that they could not function properly which accounts for this defeat.

In playing their last game of the season, the Scyldings triumphed over the Banquo varsity quintet by a 44 to 31 count at the Community Gym. Thus ended up one of the most successful seasons that has ever been exhibited for the Huntington High School by a second team.

Harold Blackburn—"Blacky" held down the pivot position, and was the most consistent player of the Scylding squad. At the end of the season he was elected honorary captain of the team by the players.

Darwin Forst—Forst was another outstanding player. His primary purpose was to defend the Junior Norse goal but he often eluded his man to add the guard's share of the points. He is only a Freshman.

Max Rudicel—"Petty's" punch pulled the Scyldings out of many holes during the season's games. He was quite capable in faking shots and connecting with the hoop, being high scorer for the season.

Kenneth Roudebush—"Kennie" was a regular forward in his first year out. His high arching shots from the side made him hard to stop, and with three more years of school he should go places.

Eugene Casper—Casper's first purpose was on the defensive, but his excellent shooting was outstanding. He always gave a good account of himself, and for that reason it is hard to lose him by graduation.

Harold Kaylor—Kaylor possessed one of the best "eyes" of the team, and when given the chance, he could always be counted on for some points. He still has another year in which to perform.

Tom Wasmuth—The slow but sure guard, that worked steadily during the season's progress, was one of the main features for the Scyldings' success. Tom is a Junior and will be seen in action next year.

Fred Dick, Jr.—Has the right characteristics of an athlete. He saw action in many of the games and performed to the best of his ability. Fred has another year for development.

Fred Cussen—A forward that was always up to his usual form. He was the only Scylding left over from last year's five and much to "Buch's" regret is lost by graduation.

Arthur Musselman—A Freshman, whose basket eye was trained unusually well, as he counted from out on the floor consistently. "Art" did great things for his first year, and greater ones are expected of him during his coming years in High School.

Mark Lahr—The agile little forward that was constantly fighting his way upward. His well shaped figure could be seen bobbing over the floor, always scrapping for the welfare of the Junior Norse.

Frederick Schaefer—The tall lanky center who was forever fighting until he seemed ready to drop. His already-developed basket-eye was the cause of the fans' hysterics. "Fritz" will be with the netters next year.

Clayton Beaver—The diminutive guard that would push the ball in the hoop when it was least expected of him. He is just a Freshman, and his remaining three years should prove to be sucecssful in athletics.

Mack Layton—Another Scylding rower that paddled them over the season's waters for a successful year. His never daunted pirit was the curse of all opponents, and surely he will be a bright and shining light in the coming season.

Eugene Steele—Showed a steady increase in ability throughout the progress of the season, and we are inclined to think that this development will be continued next season, since he is only a Junior.

Joe Moore—Progressed splendidly throughout the season. He is only a Freshman, and his determined grit to gain a higher berth next winter will surely reveal an outstanding player.

Robert Shoemaker—Shoemaker did not join the squad until the middle of the season, but from then on he played a stellar brand of ball to the last game. He is also lost by the four year limit.

TRACK

AFTER the Seniors had won the class track meet held at the Kriegbaum Athletic Field April 5, Paul Kriegbaum, coach, had a better view for the season's future than he had previously sustained.

The inter-class track meet as a whole was a huge success as it revealed some valuable material, since there were only three letter men to remain from last year's track team. The three letter men were Joe Shock, sprinter; William Robinson, field man, who is now holding the high jump record of Huntington High School at 5 feet 8 inches; and Lawrence Kethcart, field man.

The recruits from the class meet were Robert Brahs, Harold Casper, Raymond Decker, Anthony Russo, Arthur Frewer, Freeman Guest, Vaughn Hubley, Merritt Hummer, Charles Lay, Robert Landis, Charles Millner, Hayden Rice, Paul Schepper, Cloid Slater, Robert Slater, Clyde Todd, Henry Wendt, Jack Wolverton, Louis Lichtsinn and Wilbur Piepenbrink.

Last season the Vikings did not fare so well. However, they managed to win the County track meet by the score of 25 to 73. Their last year's meets are totaled as follows: Peru 83, Huntington 16; Huntington Township 25, Huntington 73; Bluffton 76, Huntington 23; South Side 42; Wabash 37, and Huntington 20 triangle meet. In the sectional meet Huntington scored only 1 4-5, when Robinson tied with five other men for first.

This year's schedule was:

April 5	Here		Class Meet
April 12	Here		Decatur
April 19	Here		Wabash
April 26	There		Bluffton
May 3	Here		Warsaw
May 10			Open
May 17	There	Fort Wayne	Sectional

WHEN Coach Clum Bucher issued the initial call for baseball Monday, March 24, forty candidates responded, among them only three from last year's chaimpion nine to build a team for this spring. They were Frederick "Feck" Hosler and Willis "Babe" Hosler, veteran pitchers, and Rex "Runt" Rudicel, shortstop.

They were Frederick "Feck" Hosler and Willis "Babe" Hosler, veteran pitchers, and Rex "Runt" Rudicel, shortstop.

Since Huntington High School handed in its resignation from the North Eastern conference, the locals tried to get contracts with some of the more noted schools to serve as better opposition. There were scheduled two new teams, South Bend and Ligonier, both for two games. However, a series of games with Tech of Indianapolis was scheduled and then cancelled.

The games scheduled were:

BASEBALL, 1930

BY winning ten games of baseball last spring, Huntington High School laid claim to the state title of Indiana, also the North Eastern Conference, but by disputation of another contender of the conference, was awarded second place. This injustice bestowed upon them by officials led Huntington to withdraw.

The Norsemen started by trouncing Rock Creek, a county contender, by a tremendous score of 30 to 0. Another team was Clear Creek, whom the Vikings easily disposed of. The remaining games were with North Eastern conference teams; the first being South Side of Fort Wayne. The Archers made a bow to the Sea Rovers by a 4 to 0 count.

Probably the most outstanding games of the season were with Central of Fort Wayne, the conference champions. In the first game of a series of two, the Vikings ran all over the Tigers, and at the end of the game came out ahead 14 to 4. The next game, however, was no walk away, for the Vikings netted only a unit to win over the Centralites.

The summary of the season is:

Rock Creek	0	Huntington	30
Clear Creek	2	"	9
South Side	0	"	4
N. Manchester	3	"	16
Central	4	"	14
Bluffton	2	"	8

STUDENT MANAGERS

ONE has but to look into the midst of the athletes, and set his gaze on the center attraction of all sports, to find where the spirit of any team lies, in the student managers.

When he sees no action in games, people think that he takes a minor part in sports. However, this is far from being true. It is the student manager who keeps his men in shape so that they may give their best for the coming conflict, and it is a poor manager who does not act when duty calls, or who thinks he has a position that is just a name and nothing else.

To persons such as Joe Heaston and Jerome Kirkwood, who, day by day, ventured out on the gridiron with the players whether it be cold or hot, rain or snow, should the highest tribute be paid.

Coming into the basketball season the hardwood athletes elected their manager. The final check up let all nominees out exeept Paul Schepper, to whose alertness and devoted time was due immeasurably the season's success.

Along in the springtime one may see a person trudging along the street, buried beneath a volley of bats, gloves, balls and catchers outfits, going to Kriegbaum field for the daily workout, then to return with the same within a couple of hours. This is no other than Kenneth Clapp, and the services he rendered will long be remembered by those whom he served.

Next comes the track manager with a less painless, but nevertheless a dreary job. His is the work of rubbing muscles. taping ankles, and baking sprains. It is needless to say all things that Harold Landfert did, but he was consitently kept busy through thi spring's track schedule.

YELLS

FOR the first time in the history of the local school, Huntington High has organized an efficient group of yell leaders, supervised by Mr. Day.

During the earlier part of the football season it was easily recognized that the Vikings lacked the loyal support of the students in yelling, and it was then that the authorities appointed a faculty to organize a group of leaders, and thus Mr. Day was appointed the head of this group. By his careful supervision and selecting students, the "Department of Yellology" was formed and was termed a success.

The selected students for leaders were Richard Bixby, Gladys McCrum, and Mary Ellen Willis.

By the pleasing personality of these three they were able to bring the masss of people into a roar, to calm the unsportsmanship of some, and to shout their team to victory when defeat was near at hand.

To arouse the enthusiastic spirit among the fans, a pep session was held before each of the important games. These sessions were instrumental in improving the qualities of the cheers, by which the high school showed the team its support.

---Confucius

MISS ALICE MILLER came directly here from the American College of Physical Education at Chicago, Ill., where she received her bachelor degree. Miss Miller faced adifficult situation when she first came here, which was to produce a basketball team. Although she did not develop an outstanding team, she taught the girls real sportsmanship and endeared herself to the members of the team. Her task to make a basketball team out of inexperienced material was quite a job since it was the first team to be attempted in girls' sports. She has a majority of girls of this years' sextet to look forward to for next year, since most of them are underclassmen. The result should be that a better and more experienced group will represent next winter's main sport.

Surely if anyone is deserving of being praised it should be Alice, who worked hard in teaching the Gold and Blue Revue choruses their steps.

In summarizing her achievements here we see a remarkable future for her. She has laid a foundation for girls' basketball; carried on the work of the G. A. A.; taught swimming besides the regular gym class work, and was always ready to help in what ever part she must play.

GIRLS' SPORTS

FOR the first time in the history of athletics, Huntington High School was represented by a girls' basketball team this year. For many years the school has conducted class tourneys among the girls, but they have never been allowed to play any teams outside.

Although the girls experienced an unsuccessful season, they did exeellently considering the fact it was their first year. They were slow in starting as is the case with any team, but at the end of the schedule they showed immense improvement over their season play.

In their opening contest, the girls took on the strong Clear Creek outfit, but were no match for their experienced opponents; and as a result, they were swamped under a top-heavy score of 52 and 5. A little improvement was noticed against the Columbia City quintette, but again they fell by the overwhelming score of 45 to 2.

Bippus was barely able to carry off a 13 to 11 victory in the preliminary to the finals of the Second Team Tournament. The victors gained their margin of victory only after Lahr and McCrum, Huntington stars, were ejected from the game, the former being injured and the latter having committed her fourth personal foul.

Two games were played with Union Center, the first at Community gym and the second in the High School gym. In the opening encounter, the girls were defeated by a count of 38 to 10, but in the second they proved their mettle by losing 17 to 16 in a heart-breaking fight. Coming on the floor for the second half with the score 13 to 2 against them, the girls fought their way up to tie the seore at 16 with a minute left to play. Their hopes, however, were shattered when a Union Center player made good a charity throw in the closing seconds of the game.

Despite the fact that the girls lost every game, H. H. S. can look forward to a successful season for them next year, since only four are lost by graduation: Gladys McCrum, Mary Elizabeth Holabird, Frances Lahr, and Roberta Young. Captain Richardson, Wanda A. Smith, Maxine Ade, Edna Wood, Consuella Eisenhauer, Margaret Goshorn, Louise Carroll, and Pauline Haneline are left for the 1931 season.

Mable Richardson

Mable Richardson—Was chosen by the girls to be their leader throughout the season. She was quite worthy in receiving the honor. At forward she played to the greatest advantage, since she played in every game. She has another year of active service for the high school.

Maxine Ade—Displayed some wonderful ability in holding down the guard position. She was one of the most outstanding players on the team, and much to the opponents' sorrow will be with the girls for the coming winter sports.

Louise Carroll—Showed remarkable ability as a flashy forward, and her steady playing proved to pull the girls through a "tight hole" many times. Louise will be here next year and will probably hold down a regular position.

Geneva Clapp—A freshman that got a flying start on her basketball career. She played forward to good advantage, and was used to take the place of Richardson. Although Geneva was very small, she sure was able to get over the floor.

Consuella Eisenhauer—Although she did not see much action in the contests, "Cons" was always ready to do her share in making the game a real one. Consuella is only a junior this year, and she has a good chance for a regular position on the next year's squad.

Margaret Goshorn—When substituting was necessary, Margaret was always ready to take her place on the quintet. She played a very good brand of ball this year, and as she does not graduate until 1931, will probably be used next year.

Pauline Haneline—Relieved Carroll at the forward berth and connected with some good shots. She was a hard fighter and a steady player. Pauline will play with the girls' team next year, for she is only a sophomore.

Mary Elizabeth Holabird—Showed some clever guarding during the games in which she played. Many times she fell just at the crisis to insure the girls a "lucky break." "Mary Liz" was a steady player, and because of graduation, her berth will be left vacant next year.

Maxine Landis—Was another faithful substitute. Maxine can play best at her convenience, side center. However, she was used at other positions. Nevertheless, her work was done admirably well, and since she is only a freshman, her future three years should bring her renown and fame.

Gladys McCrum—The fighting little side center certainly did her bit in making the team successful. Her fast playing and scrappy temper increased the strength of the team remarkably. Gladys will be lost by graduation this year.

Wanda A. Smith—Had an unusually keen eye for the basket. She was able to make points when so much was at stake. Wanda was a very valuable player, and by her luck at the basket the reputation of the team was often saved.

Roberta Young—Ably filled the vacaney left by Lahr in the midst of the season. Her undying spirit kept the girls keyed up to the highest pitch. She always gave the best she had for the welfare of the team.

Hazel Clare Robertson—Student Manager, by her faithful duty in which she kept care of the girls, must be credited for the girls' success in this sport. Much to the regret of the underclassmen, she will be lost when she receives her diploma this year.

SWIMMING

IN the early part of October, approximately fifty gym girls under the supervision of Miss Alice Miller were enrolled for swimming, which was instructed every Wednesday afternoon throughout the year at the La-Fontaine Hotel by Jolly Barr, ex-aquatic coach of Purdue University.

Requirements for life saving were made, and when passed, a girl was awarded points, which counted toward her membership in the Girls' Athleitc Association.

Swimming has been one of the main activities for the girls for the past four years, and will be carried forward with new enthusiasm now that the new Y. M. C. A. is lending their pool to the girls for the coming years.

The Junior Red Cross life saving test requires a girl to be 12 years of age or over, and the performance of such feats as surface diving, recovering weights, release holds of drowning persons, reviving one that has escaped drowning, and others.

To gain a Red Cross button, the applicant must be able to swim 100 yards, using at least two types of strokes: to swim 50 feet on the back, using legs only; to recover an object in 6 to 8 feet depth of water by a surface dive; to perform straight front racing dive in good form, and to witness a demonstration of artificial respiration.

Beginners must jump into water over their heads; swim 25 feet, make a turn, and return the same distance.

As yet there has been no senior award given to a girl, despite the efforts of several members of the class.

SEPTEMBER

I have no fear! What is in store for me
Shall find me self-reliant, undismayed;
God grant my only cowardice shall be Afraid—to be afraid. —E. J. Appleton.

TO begin the school year, three new teachers made their bow to the high school students on Monday, 9. Miss Watson is the new biology instructor, taking the place of Mrs. Carlo Fadda, formerly Miss Frances Taylor. Miss Alie Miller takes the place of Mrs. Leland Fisher, formerly Miss Cleo Dale Phillips, as girls' gym instructor. Carter Brown replaced Delmar Weesner as band instructor.

On Thursday, 19, the Sunshine Society held its first meeting of the new year in order to discuss their plans for the school year. The advisors introduced their chairmen and these girls outlined the plans for the various committees. The girls who spoke and their advisors are: Religious: Miss Thrailkill, advisor; Effie Chalmers, chairman; Social: Miss Emma Kline, advisor, Laura Kenner, chairman; Dramatic: Miss Rupert, Miss Beatrice Brown, Miss Tyner, advisors, Doretha Barnes, chairman; Big and Little Sister: Miss Alice Kline, advisor, Helen Sparks, chairman; Music: Mrs. Branyan, advisor, Gwendolyn Mahoney, chairman; Finance: Miss Ridgway, advisor, Maxine Ade, chairman; Costume: Miss Alwood, advisor, Wilda Mae Lucas, chairman.

The various classes held elections during the week of the 25th, and elected their various officers and advisors. The senior class elected: Max Potts, President; Hazel Clare Robertson, Vice-President; Helen Kohr, Secretary; Kathryn Satterthwaite, Treasurer; and Miss Hoffman, Advisor. Louis Lichtsinn, President; Georgiana Redrup, Vice-President; Fred Hosler, Secretary; Max Rudicel, Treasurer; and Miss Alwood, Advisor, are the Junior class representatives. The Sophomores chose: Dick Book, President; Jack Hefner, Vice-President; Jean Adams, Secretary; Jacob Kitt, Treasurer; and Miss Cage, Advisor.

In order that H. H. S. may be properly governed, the monitor committee composed of Miss Ridgway, Miss Hoffman, Miss Easter, and Miss Tyner, chose the monitors on Monday, 24. Accordingly the monitors are: Margaret McNabb, Clara Bauman, Beatrice Call, Virginia Curley, Paul Schepper, Corlene Schoek, Alice Hurd, Dorothy Rankin, Ruth Allison, Hugh Hartman, Betty Young, Frances Schenkel, Helen Sell, Helen Johnson, Max Allen, Darwin Kelley, Wilbur Piepenbrink, Maxine Ade, Wygtle Smith, Elizabeth Snyder, Catherine Row, Doranee Overmyer, Edwin Coughlin, Eldon Rice, Thea Neuman, Isabel Bolinger, John Wann, Ruby Iry, Pauline Glass, Max Rudicel, and Doreatha Barnes.

A concert by the Lychenheim Trio was given under the auspices of the music department on Thursday, 26, in order to show the high and junior high school students what young people can do as musicians. The trio is made up of Marion Lychenheim, pianist; Rosalind Wallack, violinist; and Anne Slack, violincellist.

OCTOBER

I count life just a stuff
To try the soul's strength on.
Educe the man.

EIGHT students and Mr. Day attended the state journalistic convention at Franklin on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, 17, 18, and 19. At this convention Mr. Day was chosen president of the Indiana society. The Modulus and School World won first and second place honors, respectively, for year books and papers in their class. The students who made the trip are Martha Dungan, Phyllis Sale, Maxine Ade, Geraldine Coble, Shirley Hawes, Max Allen, Eldon Rice, and William Scheerer.

Not to be outdone by committees and organizations having parties, the Girls' Athletic Association held a very successful pary in the high school club room on Tuesday, 15. About 75 girls and several faculty members attended. Mary Elizabeth Holabird is president of the local chapter, Maxine Ade, Vice-President; Wygtle Smith, secretary-treasurer; and Wanda Smith, master of sports.

On Thursday, 24, the Dramatic Committee of the Sunshine Society gave that much postponed play, "Three Pills in a Bottle." This is based upon the story of a little boy who finally becomes well and happy by helping others. Hazel Clare Robertson played the part of Tony, the little boy. Ruth Kearney was the mother, Helen Kohr, the rich man; Elizabeth Snyder, his soul; Doreatha Barnes, the scissors grinder; Delene Lobdell, his soul; Lucile Wienke, the washerwoman; and Maxine Chalfant, her soul. The play was coached by Miss Rupert.

Twenty-one teachers of H. H. S. attended the Northeastern Indiana Teachers' asscciation at Fort Wayne, Thursday, 17, while others attended the sessions at Indianapolis. Twenty-two chorus pupils took part in the convention chorus, "The Harvest," which was given on Friday. The Huntington County Orchestra, under the direction of Rex Arlington, and Gwendolyn Mahoney also appeaed on the program.

Mayor and Mrs. Zach Dungan presented two new sets of books to the school library on Tuesday, 15. One set of the books, consisting of 11 volumes, contains messages and papers of the presidents from 1789 to 1908. The other set of 10 volumes consists of the letters and biographies of Thomas Paine.

The seniors held a very successful Hallowe'en party on Monday, 28, at the country club. There were many beautiful and fantastic costumes, and prizes for the best outfits were awarded to Shirley Hawes, Katherine Satterthwaite, Rex Rudicel, and Theron Williams. Approximately 100 seniors attended, and Miss Alwood, Miss Hoffman, and Mr. Bucher were invited guests.

To open their fall activities, the S. P. Q. R. club held their first meeting on Thursday, 26. Jane Wheeler was elected Consul, and Joe Shock, Secretary.

Students signed activity cards on Tuesday, 15, to subscribe for the Modulus, School World, and Athletics. These activities will be supported by banking under Mr. Eberhart's direction.

NOVEMBER

Go to your work and be strong, halting not in your ways,
Balking the end half-won, for an instant's dole of praise.
Stand to your work and be wise, certain of sword or pen,
Being neither children nor gods, but men in the world of men.
—Kipling.

ALL high school students brushed their hair twice, washed their ears, and in general put on an extra good behavior to show their papas and mamas on Thursday, 14. Night school was in session. Everything went fine until about 8:30, when the lights went out. Classes were conducted despite this handicap, and students responded admirably to their tutors in the darkness. The classes, which are regularly conducted in the afternoon, were held.

Cinderella and Prince Charming met at the party given by the Sunshine Society on Friday, 15, in honor of the little sisters. The old fairy tale of Cinderella was given in playlet form by the following girls: Helen Sparks and Rosabelle Bridgins, as Cinderella; Wygtle Smith, Prince Charming; Geraldine Coble, Fat Sister; Cecil Holsworth, Thin Sister; Maxine Ade, Interlocutor; Miriam Dumbauld, Fairy Godmother; Georgiana Redrup, and June Deeter, Pages. Decorations and appointments were in keeping with the theme and all the older girls were attired as modern or old-fashioned Prince Charmings and the little sisters were Cinderellas.

In order to help finance the Modulus, students of journalism classes collected about five tons of old papers and magazines during Friday and Saturday, 18 and 19. The whole city was canvassed in trucks furnished by Kriegbaums and Bartletts.

A peace pledge was written by the civics classes and signed by the faculty and 607 students. The pledge was sent to the National Student Forum on the Peace Pact. This contribution was a tribute to the peace movement. The pact was taken from several pledges written by civics class students.

Through the efforts of the Religious Committee of the Sunshine Society, an appreciation hour was given Tuesday, 26, at the Methodist Church. Mr. Day gave several organ selections, and Mr. Mahoney played the chimes. Mrs. Thad Clark gave the principal address, which was followed by selections by the Glee Club.

The two debate squads were chosen on Friday, 8, by Miss Tyner, Miss Beatrice Brown, and Mr. Day. Try-outs were held in the club rooms and selections were made according to argument, general delivery, and rebuttals.

To aid the Parent-Teachers' Association in buying band uniforms, the third of a series of musical concerts was presented Tuesday, 19. This last musical was given by Michael Wilkomerski, violinist; and William Hughes, pianist. Mr. Wilkomerski has given concerts in Paris, Berlin, Warsaw, New York, and Chicago. He gave six solo selections, and Mr. Hughes gave three.

Robert Bromley and William Hughes presented a concert of instrumental and vocal numbers on Thursday, 7. This was the second of a series of concerts. Mr. Bromley is a baritone soloist, and Mr. Hughes is pianist. Several musical comedy numbers were given as well as several operatic selections.

ON December 5 and 6, six pupils of the journalism department attended the National Scholastic Press Association Convention in Chicago. These students attended the Civic opera, numerous theaters, and heard such prominent speakers as Zona Gale and Quinn Ryan. Those who attended: Doreatha Barnes, Geraldine Coble, Martha Dungan, Ossa Hamilton, Max Allen, William Scheerer, and Mr. and Mrs. Day.

Under the supervision of Miss Thrailkill, the Religious Committee of the Sunshine Society presented their annual play on Thursday, 19. The play was of a young shepherd who goes out to find his lost sheep. He finds it and returns it to the fold. The cast was as follows: Young Shepherd, Isabel Bolinger; Other Shepherds, Miriam Smith and Mary Newell; Three Wise Men, Leona Fansler, Ethel Chalmers, and Dorothy Smith; Mary, Elizabeth Ewing; Heralds, Helenjane Meier and Jean Smith; Civilization, Lucile Wienke; Industry, Margaret Goshorn: Commerce, Claribel Telfer; Spirit of Progress, Dorothy Hannon; Spirit of Love, Lois Swihart; Generosity, Betty Young; and Loyalty, Harriette Fields.

In honor of the mothers of the Sunshine girls, a banquet was given Tuesday, 17, in the gym. The gym was decorated in tinsel and red and white. Miniature Christmas trees were used as favors. About 100 girls and their mothers attended. Mrs. Branyan led the girls in the singing of Christmas Carols.

By winning major letters in football and having scholastic standings above the average, nine boys were added to the local chapter of the National Athletic Honor Society on Thursday, 19. Ralph Chevalier, Al Petrucelle, Bob Petrie, Gerald Jung, Nelson Bechstein, and Jack Barnhisel as the charter members. The nine boys who were added are: Joe Shock, John Berringer, Fred Hosler, Laurence Kethcart, Willis Carroll, Rex Rudicel, Tom Wasmuth, Robert Landis, and Louis Lichtsinn.

Joining in the spirit of Christmas, the boys in Mr. Mahoney's and Mr. Brown's classes made toys to be distributed by the Charity Guild. The wood work class made toy ducks which were mounted on wheels. The ducks were fixed so as to move and jump up and down when pulled on the floor. Then some of the classes made toy autos. The turning classes made little wooden rolling pins for the girls. The forge classes cut little cookie cutters and little sand pails out of tin. These toys will be distributed to the poor children.

As the first of entertainments for the school year, the S. P. Q. R. Latin club held a banquet at the home of the president, Jane Wheeler, on Thursday, 19. The banquet was held for the Junior and Senior members of the organization, and was in keeping with the Roman Saturnalia. The menu and the stunts were in Roman style.

To plan further definite work of the Student Council, four committees were appointed by Mr. Byers at the meeting on Tuesday, 3.

EIGHT pupils in he Journalism department were given membership in the Quill and Scroll, which is the International Honor Society for High School joursalists. This is the highest award a student may be given for journalistic work. Those who were awarded membership are: Shirley Hawes, Geraldine Coble, Laura Kenner, Doreatha Barnes, Dorothy Guhl, Martha Dungan, Woody DuHadway, and William Scheerer.

On January 15, 16, 17, the Senior class gave presentations of "Skidding" as their annual play. Capacity crowds attended each night. Selections for the cast were especially well suited. Max Potts, as Judge Hardy, and Maxine Chalfant, as Marion Hardy, had the leading roles. Dick Bixby was Andy Hardy (the kid brother) and was very well received. Shirley Hawes as Aunt Milly won the hearts of the audience. Ruby Iry was very appealing in the role of Mrs. Hardy. Jane Wheeler, as Estelle Hardy Campbell, and Mildred Bailey, as Myra Hardy Wilcox, acted the parts of sisters to perfection. Bertram May demonstrated his histrionic ability in the role of Wayne Trenton III, and Charles Lay, as Mr. Stubbins, was the exact type for the role of a political boss.

The play was coached by Miss Rupert and A. J. Beriault of the Beriault School of Expression. Ushers for the play were: William Scheerer, Hazel Clare Robertson, Martha Dungan, Delene Lobdell, Edward Hendricks, Olive Lesh, Helen Kohr, Mabel Overholt, Alice Mossman, Edwin Coughlin, Richard Kindler, Dorothea Barnes, and Martha Beaver.

New big sisters for the incoming freshmen were appointed Wednesday 15, by the big and little sister committee; Helen Sparks, chairman, and Alice Kline, Advisor. This society is for the prevention of lumps in the throat; in other words, to acquaint the freshman girls with their school life.

Orders were placed on Friday, 17, for the diplomas for the Senior class. The diplomas are Senior class colors, light blue suede with gray silk lining. The diplomas are in book form with the names of every graduate on the back. The class motto, color, and flowers are placed on the front.

"The Sophomore," a college film production, was sponsored by the Junior class on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, 28-30. The Juniors sponsored the show in order to help finance the Junior-Senior Reception, which was held on Thursday, May 22.

Nat Holman, a member of the well-known Chicago Bruins basketball team, gave an address to the students Friday, 23, in the auditorium. His address was on "Life's Purpose.—Seeking the Best in Everything."

A team was chosen on Friday, 24, to debate both sides of the question: "Resolved that the state of Indiana adopt a system of old age pensions," in the Indiana State Debate League, by Miss Tyner, Miss Beatrice Brown, and Mr. Day. Those chosen are: Darwin Kelley, Miriam Dumbauld, Dick Bixby, Eldon Rice, and Wilbur Piepenbrink.

THE Senior Class of 1930 selected as their gift to the school four paintings which were placed in the school library. The pictures are "Harvest Moon," "Dawn of Intelligence," "Signing of the Mayflower Compact," and "Signing of the Declaration of Independence." It is always the custom of the Senior Class to leave some gift to the school out of the proceeds of the Senior play. The Class of 1929 gave as a gift the electric scoreboards that are used in the Community Gym.

In honor of their mothers, the Sunshine girls held a Valentine tea on Thursday, 9. Preceding the tea, a Valentine program was held in the auditorium. Florence Dunkin sang, "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses," Gwendolyn Mahoney played a piano selection, "Hearts and Flowers," Geraldine Zahn sang, "Love's Greetings;" Eva Haines, Louise Carroll, and Clara Bauman, gave a tap dance; and then the playlet, "The Knave of Hearts," was given. The cast for the play included: Knave, Mary Kithcart; King Pompadilly, Georgiana Redrup; Lady Violetta, Mildred Bailey; Chancellor, Helenjane Meier; Lady Ursula, Elizabeth Ewing; Blue Hose, Pauline Heiney; Yellow Hose, Jane Wheeler; Interlocutor, Maxine Ade; Page, Jean Smith.

The boys' chorus decided to do something different, so on Thursday, 6, they formed the Boys' Glee Club. The membership is restricted to a certain number of boys, and is sponsored by Mrs. Branyan. John Wann was elected president; Louis Lichtsinn, vice-president; and Joe Shock, secretary.

Miss Beatrice Brown entered the seven Latin students in the contest that began on Saturday, 8. The students did exceptionally well, considering the time there was to prepare. Elizabeth Snyder won a gold medal and the others were awarded silver and bronze mdals. Those who represented Huntington High School are: Elizabeth Snyder, Dick Bixby, Berniece Hippensteel, Virginia Branyan, Jeanette Rudig, and Ruth Allison.

The Sunshine girls held the initiation service for the Freshmen girls on Thursday, 20. About sixty girls took part, the candlelight service being featured. Mildred Bailey, president of the local society, read the ceremony. Elizabeth Ewing, Jane Foote, Maxine Ade, Helenjane Meier, and Helen Jane Cook assisted in the ritual.

DeVon Young was elected president of the "H" club at a meeting on Wednesday, 5. Fred Hosler was elected vice-president, Rex Rudicel secretary-treasurer, and Lawrence Kethcart sentinel. The club is organized by the boys who have all earned an "H" by athletics.

At a special auditorium exercise on Monday, 10, Walter Hassfield, the world's champion typist, gave a demonstration for commercial students. He attained a speed of 200 words per minute. He won the national championship in 1918-20-21-22-26 and 27.

ON Thursday, 20, and Friday, 21, the senior class sponsored the Gold and Blue Revue in order to raise funds for the Modulus. The Revue was held in the form of a night club with celebrities and entertainers. A sixteen-piece orchestra, conducted by Mr. Day, occupied the center of the stage and the limelight. Approximately $400 was cleared on the production. As the result of a competitive ticket selling contest, Laura Kenner was elected Queen of the Revue.

By defeating the Hartford City team, the local debaters won the right to participate in the state meet. The meet was held at Manchester College April 4 and 4. The local team consistd of Dick Bixby, Captain, Miriam Dumbauld, Darwin Kelley, and Eldon Rice.

Approximately $100 was made by the Parent-Teachers' Association on the penny supper held Tuesday, 28, in the club rooms. Mrs. Helen B. Dick, president of the society, announced that this amount would not entirely liquidate the debt contracted in buying the band uniforms.

The Sunshine Society was presented with gifts for the Sunshine room at one of the most interesting and inspiring sessions held this year on Thursday, 13. The social committee: Laura Kenner, chairman, and Miss Emma Kline, advisor, were in charge of the program. Gifts presented by Miss Moore and Miss Pricilla McArthur were enthusiastically and appreciatively received, as well as those gifts presented by the girls.

The club room was the scene of a delightful St. Patrick's party which was held by the Religious Committee on Friday, 7. The room was decorated in green and white, and small hats and pipes were given as favors. Effie Chalmers and Miss Thrailkill were in charge of the Religious Committee.

Three delegates were elected by the Susshine Society on Thursday, 27, to attend the state convention at Tipton which was to be held on April 4 and 5. These girls were nominated by the Sunshine sponsors and elected by the entire society. The girls who were chosen were Helenjane Meier, Elizabeth Ewing, and Jean Adams.

In the auditorium exercises held Friday, 21, the Juniors gave the first of a series of five programs which were given by the various classes and the band. Louis Lichtsinn, president of the class, presided as master of ceremonies.

The band continued the series of auditorium programs by giving the second program on Friday, 28. Carter Brown was in charge of the band.

During the program the letters were given to the Scyldings, Girls' and Viking basketball teams. DeVon Yourg was presented the foul-throw trophy, and Rex Rudicel received the honorary sweater.

Three boys, participating in basketball, became eligible for the National Athletic Honor Society on Thursday, 27. They were: Earl Hooton, Fred Dick, and Eugene Steele. This makes the complete membership of the club fourteen.

THE Sunshine girls have always entertained their mothers at various teas and parties, so on Thursday, 3, the girls had a "Dad's Night." The girls brought their dads to a banquet held at the Presbyterian church. Mildred Bailey, president of the Society, acted as hostess and welcomed the Dads. Georgiana Redrup gave a toast on, "We Hope We've Made You Glad, Dads." and Jane Wheeler gave a toast entitled, "Appreciation." Six parodies were sung by all the girls, and Maxine Chaltant sang, "Dad O'Mine." Olive Lesh and Delene Lobdell also sang several songs and the Sunshine Syncopators played several selections. The program closed with everybody singing, "Good Night, Dads." The Sunshine Scrapbook was exhibited at the banquet.

Nineteen Sunshine girls and two sponsors attended the Sunshine Convention held at Tipton on Friday and Saturday, 4 and 5. Elizabeth Ewing, Helenjane Meier, and Jean Adams were the Huntington delegates, while Miss Cage and Miss Weiford went as sponsors. BECAUSE of their high scholastic achievements, five members of the senior class were honored on Thursday, 1, by being awarded membership in the K. B. F. society, sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club. Richard Bixby was highest with an average of 9.18 points, while Shirley Hawes was next with 9.175. Ruby Iry, Geraldine Coble, and Laura Kenner were the other three who were honored. This award is based on the scholastic record made by the pupils during their four years of high school.

Thirteen journalism students were given membership in the Quill and Scroll on Friday, 2. This selection is made according to meritorious journalistic work. Eight students were awarded this honor earlier in the season.

In keeping with their annual custom, the Sunshine girls presented the faculty with baskets of flowers on May Day. Several baskets were also sent to invalids and shut-ins.

The dramatic section of the Sunshine Society sponsored four plays which were given on Friday, 2, and Tuesday, 6. A three-act play, "Safety First," and three one-act plays, "O Joy Sans," "Educatin' Mary," and "Who Am I?" were presented. The casts did exceptionally well, and all who saw the performance were well pleased. Approximately $30.00 was cleared on the shows. The proceeds were used for a party, and then a sum of money was given to the Sunshine Society, to be known as the Dramatic Fund.

As the third of the series of auditorium programs given by the classes the seniors presented a program that will long be remembered. A short comedy sketch was given by Ruby Iry and Richard Bixby. A one-act play, "Hist, She's a Man," was given by the senior play cast.

Baccalaureate services for the senior class of 1930 were held on Sunday, 18, at the new Community Gym. The Rev. B. F. Cato, of the Central Christian church, was the speaker. The glee clubs and chorus classes of the high school furnished music for the services.

Approximately 250 persons attended the annual Junior-Senior Reception which was held at the Masonic Temple on Thursday, 22. The entire decorative scheme was carried out in Chinese, in order to correspond with the theme of the Modulus. Miniature lanterns and wall panels, decorateed in Chinese figures, added to the beautiful, fantastique setting. Louis Lichtsinn, president of the Junior Class, introduced the program and speaker. Dorothy Willson, dramatic reader, of Logansport, gave several readings.

One hundred forty-six seniors bade farewell to old H. H. S. at the Commencement services held at the Community Gym on Friday, 23. Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, President of DePauw University, was the Commencement speaker. Music was furnished by the High School Orchestra, directed by Carter Brown.

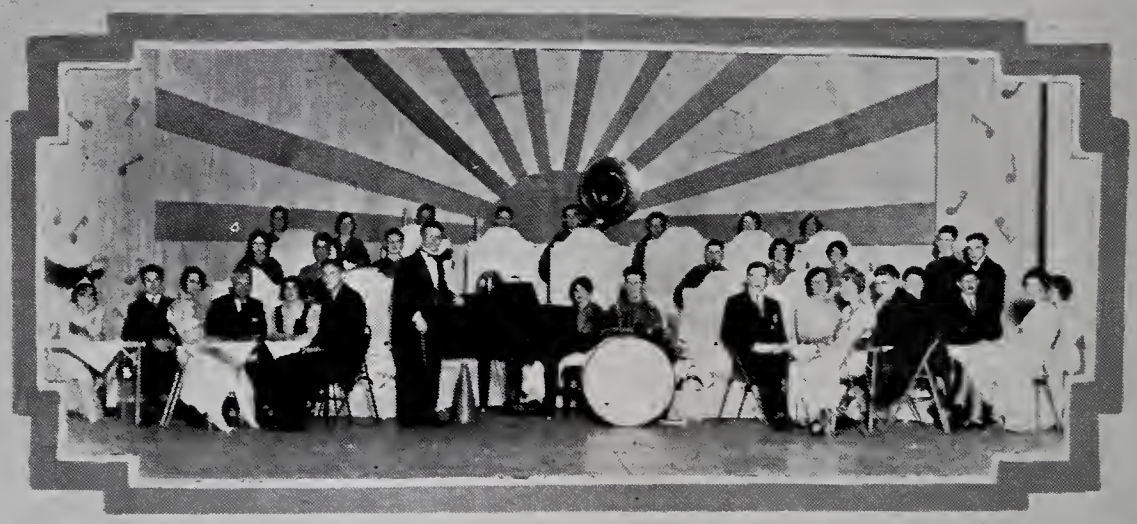
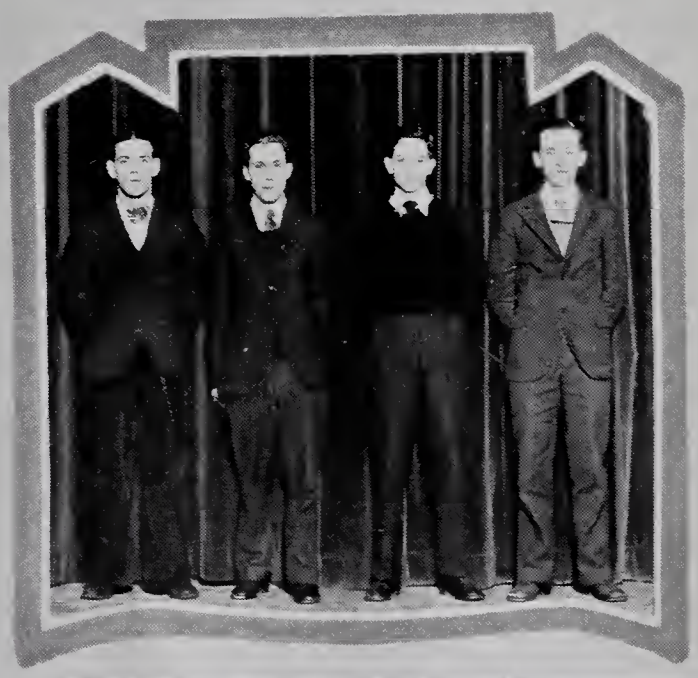
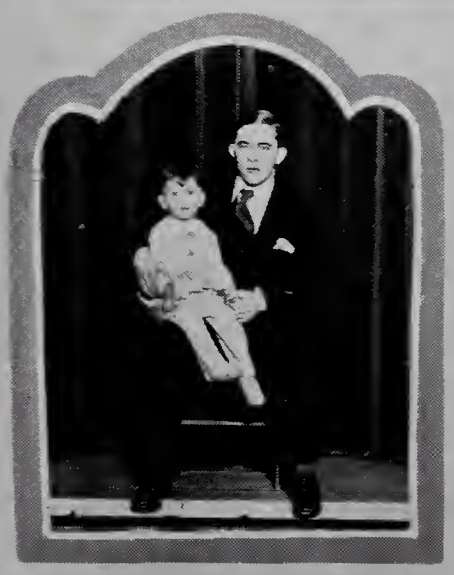
Memories! Memories! Myra and Estelle come home to stay—Andy sells real estate—Marion runs for the legislature—Papa Hardy is re-nominated or elected (which is it). Aunt Milly tries to run the house while Mama Hardy leaves home.





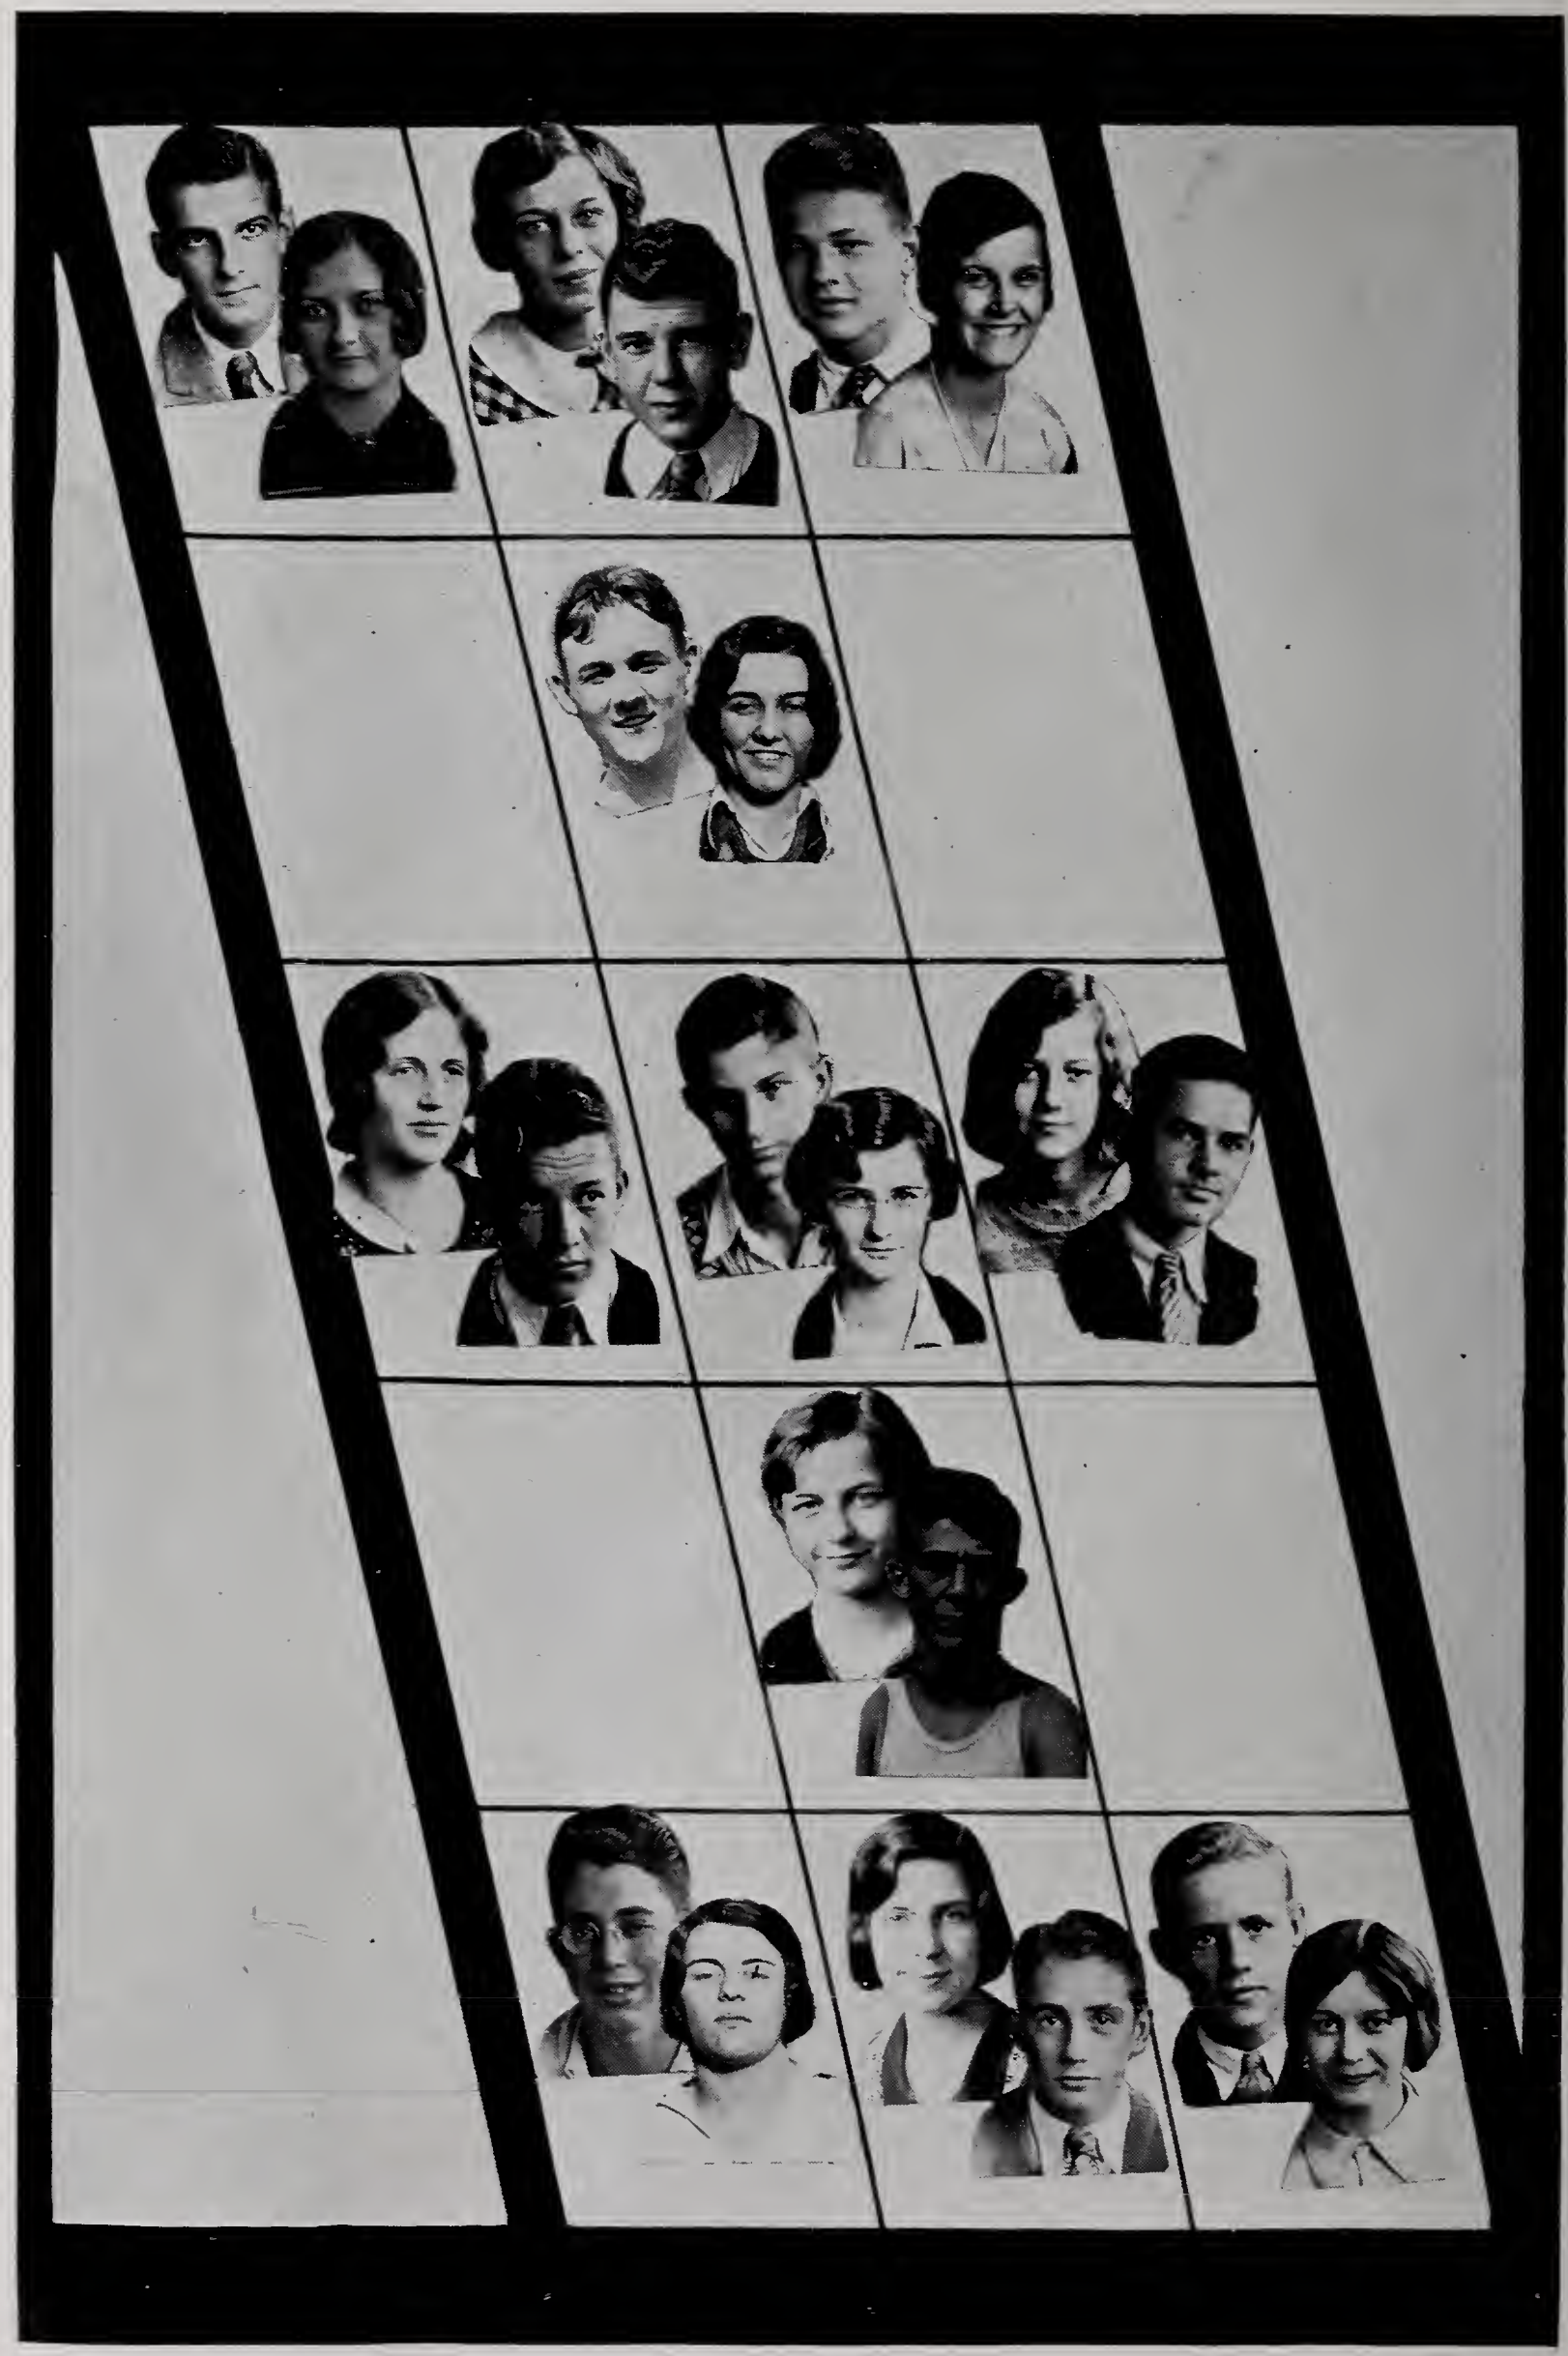
Gold and Blue Revue Night Club celebrities dance to the sizzling tunes of Rudy Vallee and his Vikings. The choruses, male and female, strut their stuff while the Glee Club quartet and "Al" sing.



The "chesty" four.—Are the girls giggling at them?—Deirdre looks pleasant.—"Are you ready?"" says Dick—A toothpaste ad?—Oh, Louie!—The editor surveys the World.—How many cats?

Touchdown! Touchdown! As the yell leaders yell, the players go into a Huntington Huddle. As the score boards mark up the total, our friend, "Jess" Morrison, gives the boys some needed encouragement.

The knave of hearts steals the queen's tarts while Cinderella and her Prince Charming look hungrily on the scene. The Irish cloggers dance to the tunes of the Sunshine syncopators. Mary sings her child to sleep while Maxine and Ann Elizabeth play Pierrot and Pierette.



Wigglefield's follies are represented on this little page. The chorus of five smiles at the Camera Man. The hero and heroine, Deed and Wanda, register affection while the other principals, Mabel, Jane, Hazel Claire, Mabel II, Esther register surprise at the sudden burst of applause.

The Honor Society holds its annual picnic at Hanging Rock—Miss Alwood smiles for the birdie—Helen Jane sits on top of the world—Ossa and Gwen do the sister act, as also do Shirley and Laura—Lois says, "No parking," but Deloris parks anyway

The femmes of the four hundred, our beautiful coeds are here arrayed including Dick Bixby. Helen the hilarious wields the broom, while Connie collects copy. Elizabeth Jenessee, Miriam and Jane appear very affectionate while Mae and Ossa play, "Lonely Me."
